

Indiana, Georgia, Alabama voting

Three states hold primary elections

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer

The political campaign reaches its busiest primary day of the season so far as voters in three states help decide today whether Ronald Reagan can take the Republican presidential nomination by overcoming Gerald Ford and the built-in advantages of an incumbent President.

Ford and Reagan meet headon in Georgia, Alabama and Indiana as interest shifts to the GOP race intensified by Reagan's sweep on Saturday of Texas' 96 delegates in a landslide even the former California governor hadn't foreseen.

That marks a complete shift from a short six weeks ago, when Ford seemed to be coasting toward nomination and the Democratic contest was still a free-for-all that was anything but the Jimmy Carter runaway it now seems to be.

Ford made a late swing through Indiana and Alabama Monday, challenging Reagan at one point to produce his income tax records. The challenger promptly did so.

The President was on the offensive much of the time, attacking Reagan's plan to trim the federal budget as a "990 billion bloop" and continuing the debate over the Panama Canal, an issue given credit for helping Reagan in Texas.

There are Democratic races today in all three states as well as in the District of Columbia. There are a total of 177 Democratic delegates to be picked, and Carter, the former Georgia governor, is in good position to win at least two-thirds of them with little trouble.

But the Republican side, where there are 139 delegates at stake, is another story. After Texas, Ford's delegate lead has been narrowed to 283-236, and if Reagan does well he could take the lead, although there are 254 uncommitted delegates from New York and Pennsylvania who are actually in Ford's camp.

Here is how the GOP primaries line up:

INDIANA (54 delegates): Two months ago, Ford's polls gave him a 25 per cent lead, but surveys now show Reagan closing. State Republican leaders, most of whom back Ford, predict the President will win. So does Ford. Reagan does not predict a victory but says it will be close.

GEORGIA (48 delegates): Reagan, as he has predicted, has swept through the South and Southwest. And he's believed to be doing well in Georgia, where he's counting on Democratic crossover from George Wallace to help him, as they apparently did in Texas. Ford's state campaign director, Joe Wilkinson, says, "That could shoot us down pretty bad."

ALABAMA (37 delegates): Another Southern state where Reagan hopes for Wallace crossovers. Ford, conceding he is the underdog, campaigned there Monday, the state's three GOP congressmen at his side, and hopes to cut into the challenger's margin.

Wallace, whose supporters may be a factor in the Republican contest, is the only major challenger to Carter in the two Southern primaries, although Rep. Morris K. Udall has slates in two Georgia congressional districts and a few scattered candidates in Alabama.

Carter and Wallace each are favored in their home states, but each has campaigned strenuously in the other. Carter is given a better chance to make inroads in Alabama (27 delegates elected and eight more chosen afterward) than Wallace is in Georgia (50 delegates), particularly if the Alabama governor loses crossovers to Reagan.

Carter is also expected to do well in Indiana, where 75 delegates will be chosen. Wallace is on the ballot there, too, but Sen. Henry M. Jackson ceased his active campaigning last week and Udall was disqualified when he failed to get the required signatures in one congressional district.

The District of Columbia chooses 17 delegates, but only Carter campaigned actively there, although Udall and Fred Harris are also on the ballot. The major interest is local, a fight between two uncommitted slates headed by Mayor Walter Washington and Walter Fauntroy, the district's nonvoting delegate in Congress.

There is no Republican primary in the district. The GOP slate, all 14 delegates pledged to Ford, has already been chosen.

City board considers college-level courses

By GEORGE MALEK

Increased emphasis on the academic high school curriculum was discussed by the Washington C.H. Board of Education at its meeting Monday.

The discussions were prompted by a suggestion from Wilmington College representatives that college-level courses be offered to high school students.

The college has suggested the possibility of having professors instruct special classes at Washington Senior

High School for seniors planning to continue their educations.

The board noted that with the vocational facilities established at Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus, students remaining at Washington Senior High School are a more academically oriented group than existed a few years ago.

Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor suggested that the proposal be considered as one step in an overall plan to upgrade the academic offerings at the high school.

Although no college credit would be given for the classes, it would allow those students who applied themselves to take college proficiency tests and earn credit without repeating the course. In light of the high cost of continuing education, the board was receptive to the idea.

It was noted that the school would have to shoulder the cost of the professor's salary for the time spent at the school, and there would need to be sufficient enrollment to make the project worthwhile.

Nestor added that in order to obtain the necessary enrollment in a particular field, students from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools might jointly attend the classes.

It was noted that many senior students, especially those who plan to attend college, have completed most of their graduation requirements prior to their final year. Board member Robert Highfield suggested that students be allowed to enroll in the college courses rather than taking high school electives and receive high school course credits for successful completion.

The board will contact the college and continue its investigation into the program.

THE WASHINGTON C.H. Band Boosters Club has ordered 80 new uniforms which are scheduled for delivery by the end of August. Cost of the uniforms is slightly in excess of $13,000.

Disposal of the old band outfits was one of several topics discussed by the board of education Monday night.

It had been suggested that the board sell uniforms rather than using them at the Middle School as has been done in the past. The Middle School's present uniforms are still usable, the board noted.

Since board members expect to receive approximately $2,000 for the 130 used uniforms, the sale must be advertised for bids. The board moved to advertise the sale of the uniforms, retaining the right to reject any or all bids.

Plans completed for 1976 season

Swimming pool opens May 29

Plans have been completed by officials of the Washington Park Association for the 1976 swimming season. The pool, located at 110 W. Oakland Ave., will open at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 29 and will close Monday, Sept. 6.

Bob Bane, pool manager, said memberships will continue to be closed. Persons previously holding memberships will be given an opportunity to renew first. New Members will be accepted only by the approval of the membership committee.

Letters of information concerning 1976 pool membership renewals have been sent to those who held 1975 memberships, Bane said. All persons previously holding memberships will have until May 15 to renew them.

The number of master memberships will remain at 775, the pool manager stated. After May 15, new members only will be issued memberships according to the priority of application and recommendation of the membership committee. Associate memberships are limited to the immediate family of a master membership holder up to 18 years of age, unless they are in school or military service, Bane added.

Master memberships, cost $30, and associate memberships are $6 each. There is no charge for lessons for members; no instruction is provided for anyone who is not a member. Members are also entitled to the use of the park shelter house and picnic areas.

Bane said at the present time there is a long waiting list of persons who desire to become members for the first time. Those persons who are scheduled to receive new memberships this year will be contacted following the May 15 deadline for renewals. Persons not receiving memberships this year will be automatically placed on next year's waiting list.

Bane said other pool employees for the 1976 season will be:

Mrs. Shirley Willoughby, assistant manager and supervisor of instruction; Sharon DeWees, assistant manager and instructor; Jonelle Shoemaker, Julie Shoemaker, Lynn Rapp and Dick Penwell, instructors and life guards; Diane Lewis, Kris Henkle, Teri Mount, Mark Heiny, Johnna Upthegrove, and Barb Oswald, life guards; and Loree Johnson, Julie Looker, Lisa English, Cindy Vaughn and Laurie Lisk, baby pool guards. Part-time employees will be Kim Henkle, Toni Conley, Sue Moore and Scott Johnson.

William Pool is president of the Washington Park Association's board of directors and Mrs. James Wilson is membership secretary.

Swimming pool hours will be from 1 until 8:45 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays; 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. for lessons on Mondays through Fridays, and from 1 until 8:45 p.m. Monday through Friday for general swimming.

The pool will be cleared from 12:30 until 1 p.m. daily.

An adult swim break will be held from 3 until 3:30 p.m. and from 7:15 until 7:45 p.m. daily, depending on crowd size and weather conditions. The baby pool will be closed during the adult breaks.

Registration for swimming instructions will be held from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. June 1 through June 4 and June 7 through June 11. Swimming classes will be offered June 14 through July 9 and from August 2 through August 27. Pre-school children will not be accepted for swimming instructions.

Life saving qualifications will be July 12. Classes in life saving will be held July 13-24. The life saving course is scheduled so as to not conflict with the Fayette County Fair, Bane said.

Since school will be in session until June 4, the hours will be changed during those weekdays according to the weather. The schedule will be announced at a later date.

Bellow leads Pulitzer Prize winners

NEW YORK (AP) Author Saul Bellow has won the 1976 Pulitzer prize for fiction with "Humboldt's Gift," a novel whose characters speak of the revered award with utter disdain.

"I'm very delighted," said Bellow, 60, a faculty member of the University of Chicago who has been passed over four previous times for the prize.

Gene Miller of the Miami Herald won a Pulitzer for news reporting, and author Paul Horgan was honored in the history category — the second time each won prizes.

The Anchorage Daily News, which has a staff of 20 and a circulation of 16,500, won the gold medal for public service for its investigation into the Teamsters union's growing impact on Alaska's economy and politics.

The prize for special local reporting went to the staff of the Chicago Tribune for uncovering widespread abuses in federal housing programs in Chicago.

In the field of drama, the Broadway hit "A Chorus Line" won a Pulitzer. The musical, created and directed by Michael Bennett, recently received a Tony award for best musical of the year.

A special award for contribution to American music was announced for Scott Joplin, the one-time "King of Ragtime," who died penniless 59 years ago.

Sydney H. Schanberg of The New York Times won the international reporting prize for his coverage "at great risk" of the Communist takeover of Cambodia and the uprooting of its people. Schanberg remained behind in the Cambodian capital after the government's surrender.

The prize for national reporting went to Des Moines Register reporter James Risher, a lawyer, for his exposure of a major scandal in the U.S. export trade.

The 11 journalism and seven other prizes in letters, drama and music were announced Monday by Columbia University, on the recommendations of an advisory board.

Endowed by the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer, the prizes were awarded first in 1917. They carry a $1,000 prize for each winner, with the exception that the newspaper winning the public service award gets a gold medal.

Bellow calls "Humboldt's Gift" a "comic book about death." In it, Humboldt, a poet, observes:

"The Pulitzer is for the birds — for the pullets. It's just a dummy newspaper publicity award given by crooks and illiterates. You become a walking Pulitzer ad, so even when you croak the first word of the obituary is 'Pulitzer prize winner passes.'"

Four books by Bellow, "Henderson the Rain King," "The Adventures of Augie March," "Herzog," and "Mr. Sammler's Planet" had been in the running for previous Pulitzer prizes.

Miller was cited for courageous general reporting over an 8½-year period that led to the exoneration of two men twice convicted of murder and sentenced to death in Florida.

In 1967, he won the prize for special reporting for producing evidence in two separate cases that freed a man and woman wrongfully convicted of murder.

At age 72, Horgan won the history prize for "Lamy of Santa Fe," the story of the first Roman Catholic archbishop of the Southwest. He also won the history prize in 1955, for "Great River:

The Rio Grande in North American History."

Philip P. Kerby, a 64-year-old senior editorial writer for the Los Angeles Times, won the 1976 editorial writing award for his critical assessment of secrecy in government and court-imposed censorship of trial proceedings.

A graduate of the underground weekly field, Tony Auth, 33, won the 1976 prize for editorial cartooning as a staff member of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

One Auth cartoon showed Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev singing in the middle of a vast American wheat field, "O beautiful for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain."

Stanley Forman, 30, of the Boston Herald American won the spot news photography award for his shots of a fire escape collapse in a Boston fire and the five-story fall of a woman and child.

The feature photography award went to the 17-member photo staff of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times for coverage of court-ordered busing with its attendant violence.

Fire alert systems studied in village

By PHIL LEWIS

Record-Herald Staff Writer
NEW HOLLAND — The New Holland Village Council took steps to install tone alert radio systems in the homes of volunteer firemen at Monday night's monthly session.

Initial plans call for the purchase of 12 units, one for each fireman in the Marion and Perry township volunteer fire departments. The tone alert systems could be triggered by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department when a fire alarm is called in.

Volunteer fireman in the New Holland area are presently notified by telephone.

The estimated cost of the system is $2,500 according to village mayor Ed Summers. He said a 50 per cent grant from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources will hopefully be obtained for the systems.

The village council received some bad news Monday when Mayor Summers was notified that a Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant application for improvement of the village's water system had been rejected. Summers said the village will now have to obtain a Farmers Home Administration loan or some other government grant to finance the project.

Council also turned two proposals over to committees for further study during Monday night's meeting.

A proposed purchase of a used highway department truck for village use was referred to the purchasing committee which should make a decision later this month. The truck will be used for various village jobs including snow removal.

A proposal to purchase a radar unit for the police chief was referred to the safety committee. Summers said the cost of the unit was estimated at $1,500. The village's present unit is reportedly obsolete and doesn't function properly.

Council decided to contact the Fayette and Pickaway county dog wardens and report recent complaints of loose dogs. Summers said most of the complaints were coming from the village's southeast section where residents have reported stray dogs running through their gardens. Summers added that citizens can file charges against dog owners who allow their pets to stray, because it is in violation of village ordinance.

Council also spent time discussing the construction of a house in the village. The Pickaway County Board of Health had issued a building ban because of inadequate sewage facilities. Arthur Newell, who is building the house, apparently received an okay to build from the county by mistake, Summers said.

Since Newell had already begun to build before the mistake was discovered, the county will permit the construction. Summers said he understood the decision to let Newell complete his house is "a one-time affair." He added that Newell will be required by the county health board to install an aerator and sand filter.

IN OTHER council action, a request by the New Holland Chamber of Commerce for the use of Main Street and the village park for a July Fourth bicentennial celebration was approved. The chamber will sponsor the festivities in cooperation with various civic organizations in the village.

Village residents will be urged to clean up yards and eliminate "unsightly messes" in a gesture in connection with the upcoming bicentennial celebration.

The New Holland Lions Club and Armo were commended for improvement projects at the village park. The Lions Club donated new picnic tables and repaired others in the park's shelter house while Armo constructed new dugouts at the park's baseball diamond.

Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chicken became a bargain word in Ohio grocery stores this month as prices reached a 17-month high at the end of April.

An Associated Press survey of prices on 16 items in 17 Ohio cities cost an average of $18.66. This is the highest since Dec. 1, 1974 when the cost averaged $18.99.

Coffee continued the increase which started last August and $5.00 or more for a three-pound can became the norm. Some grocers held the line at $4.99. The average of all cities was $4.68, up 20 cents for the month.

"It seems like there is no end to it on coffee at all," said a Chillicothe grocery manager who asked not to be named. "It is supposed to go up again and I figure sales on coffee will drop off 20 per cent and coffee will go up another 40 cents per pound."

Similar comments came from an Akron grocer.

"I don't see an end to it," he said of coffee prices, "and there will be another big jump next week."

Hamburger was the only meat item in Ohio that did not go up in price at month's end, holding steady with the previous month at 85 cents per pound.

Average price of a pound of chuck roast at the 17 cities rose from $1.00 April 1 to $1.12 May 1. Chicken went up three cents to 61 cents per pound for whole fryers and pork chops increased two per cent to $1.79 per pound for center cuts.

Milk held steady at 74 cents for a half-gallon and margarine went up two cents, three per cent, to 55 cents for a pound in sticks.

Eggs declined five per cent on average to 65 cents for a dozen white medium and toilet tissue dropped one cent to 78 cents for a four-roll pack. Bread was down one cent for a one-pound loaf and sugar held steady at $1.21 for five pounds of granulated.

Potatoes rose six per cent to $1.70 for ten pounds of white Idahos and detergent increased an average of one cent to $1.35 for a 49 ounce box.

Chocolate chip cookies, the steadiest

price-wise on the list, averaged 98 cents for a 14½ ounce pack.

Frozen orange juice dropped two cents to 67 cents for a 12-ounce can.

The average of all items by cities:

Akron, $19.49, up 12 per cent over April 1; Athens, $19.20, up two per cent; Canton, $17.18, up one per cent; Chillicothe, $19.20, up one per cent; Cincinnati, $18.79, up four one-hundredths of a per cent; Cleveland, $18.63, up four per cent; Columbus, $19.79, up three per cent; Conneaut, $17.53, up two per cent; Findlay, $17.53, up two per cent.

City pension costs 'time bomb'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future retirement of millions of municipal employees is a "fiscal time bomb" for many American cities that do not know or fail to disclose the amount of money they eventually will have to pay for pensions, a study of city accounting methods says.

The study of 43 of the nation's largest cities said "millions of taxpayers are being kept in the dark because some cities just don't know, or don't disclose, their unfunded pension obligations."

A preliminary portion of the study, conducted by Earl Keller of the University of Michigan and Robert Cockrill of the accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, was released Monday.

"These debts represent a fiscal time bomb that is ticking away at the fiscal integrity of many of our cities. And many cities do not know when the time bomb will go off," the study said. "If local control is to be preserved, cities must vastly improve their present fiscal management practices." The undisclosed retirement obligations mean "taxpayers are not aware that they will have to make up the dollars that must be paid into pension funds in the future to provide for the benefits of retired employees," the report said. "These dollar amounts are staggering."

Unfunded pensions are not financed through regular fund investments during a worker's employment but are paid out of general revenues when the employee retires.

The report said only eight of the 43 cities received an auditor's report that did not take exception to their reporting of financial conditions and obligations. They are Austin, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi, Tex.; Birmingham, Ala.; Chicago; Phoenix, Ariz.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Wichita, Kan.

The report also found that 16 of the cities do not disclose unfunded obligations for anticipated retirement benefits and only seven cities disclose their total annual obligations for employee vacations and sick leave. These are Honolulu; Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.; Oakland, San Jose and Sacramento, Calif.; and Portland, Ore.

It said 17 don't list in annual reports a debt incurred by taxing agencies other than the city but which are paid by city taxpayers, almost 30 per cent do not maintain adequate records to safeguard assets such as land, buildings and equipment, and only 26 of the cities have their financial statements audited by a certified public accountant.

The report said unfunded pension liabilities often exceed $100 million and in some instances hit $1 billion. It said the 16 cities that fail to disclose such debts are Akron, Toledo, Cincinnati and Dayton, Ohio; Chicago; Boston; Corpus Christi, Tex.; Des Moines, Iowa; Honolulu; Indianapolis; Long Beach, Calif.; Pittsburgh, St. Paul; Seattle; Tucson, Ariz.; and Portland, Ore.

Hughes heirs plan fight for money

DETROIT (AP) — A Cleveland woman is among three paternal heirs to the fortune of the late billionaire Howard Hughes who have been identified by a Detroit genealogist.

The genealogist claims to work for the public administrator in Los Angeles County.

Charles Morgan, president of Diversified Genealogy Research of Detroit, revealed the names of the three alleged heirs Monday. He said other relatives of Hughes are "wasting their time" by claiming a share of the estimated $2 billion of the Hughes estate.

Morgan said the estate would be divided equally between relatives on Hughes' paternal and maternal sides if a valid will is not established.

He said the three paternal relatives are granddaughters of the late Rupert Hughes, the billionaire's uncle, making them first cousins of Hughes, once removed.

He identified them as Elspeth DePoult and Agnes Roberts of Cleveland and Barbara Cameron of Los Angeles.

Each plans to contest a will allegedly belonging to Hughes which was found last week in the Salt Lake City headquarters of the Mormon Church, Morgan said.

He explained that the three women come first in Hughes' paternal descendancy line—and would qualify as paternal heirs to the estate before any of the "15 or 20" descendants of Hughes' grandfather, Felix Hughes.

Morgan said his findings were being distributed today to other probate investigators in Superior Court in Los Angeles. He called a Detroit newspaper to inform them of his findings.

Morgan said he was assigned two weeks ago by the Los Angeles County public administrator to find Hughes' paternal heirs. He said his firm was selected on the basis of two other probate cases it investigated for Superior Court officials.

Morgan said he has talked to all three of the women identified as Hughes' potential paternal heirs and advised them of their status. He said one of them had consulted an attorney about her inheritance claim, while the other two were waiting for advice from Superior Court officials.

The genealogist said the only known heir on Hughes' maternal side is his aunt, Mrs. Frederick Lumis of Houston.

City board

The current uniforms were purchased eight years ago by the boosters club but the board was given title to the outfits. The proceeds from the sale will be applied by the board to the new uniform purchase.

Additional funds in the amount of $5,000 are to be raised by the patch-testing program sponsored by the boosters on behalf of the Proctor and Gamble Co. More than 200 area residents are participating in the six-week test.

The remainder of the purchase price will come from other fund-raising events, private donations, and possible assistance from the board of education.

COMMUNITY Education, through program director Hank Shaffer, presented two requests to the board. Board members were asked to consider allowing the construction of backstops at McHenry Field (adjacent to Gardner Park) for use as softball or Little League baseball diamonds.

Although the board seemed agreeable to the proposal, it was noted that title restrictions to the deed might not allow use of the field for this purpose. Board president Fred L. Demenico said he would investigate the matter.

The board immediately approved a request for use of Eastside Elementary School for the 4-H day camp the first two weeks in August. Shaffer said he had been approached by representatives of the Fayette County Cooperative Extension Service with the request.

The 4-H day camp will utilize the gymnasium, restrooms and playground Monday through Thursday each of the two weeks.

It has earlier been decided that an executive committee for Community Education should be established to oversee and approve Community Education activities.

Nominations of committee members were approved by the board. Voting members to serve on the executive committee are George L. Kuhlwein, 204 Clearview Road; Mrs. Kathryn Lee, 521 E. Market St.; Dr. Leroy Davis, 735 Ohio 41-S; board member Highfield and the chairman of the Community Education Advisory Council, Kaye F. Bartlett, 1296 Dayton Ave. Non-voting members who will attend executive committee meetings are Shaffer and Nestor.

IN OTHER action, the board: —Approved rental of the Middle School gymnasium to the Washington C.H. Jaycees the night of June 5 for a professional wrestling exhibition; —Tabled a request from Help Anonymous for a school bus to transport senior citizens to Columbus June 9. The board was unsure whether or not its insurance would cover the trip;

—Moved Mrs. Rita Schwartz from the post of teachers aide to that of secretary of at Belle Aire Elementary School;

—Released a student who had recently moved to Washington C.H. to attend Miami Trace;

—Approved supplemental contracts for extra-curricular assignments;

—Hired personnel for the summer maintenance crew;

—Employed Mrs. Maria Luque to teach Spanish and French;

—Accepted resignations from a bus driver and the secretary to the Middle School principal;

—Increased the mileage payment for use of private cars in school business from 10 to 12 cents per mile;

—Approved reimbursement of professional meeting expenses for one faculty member;

—Authorized Nestor to attend a superintendent's conference May 5-7; and —Discussed an upcoming conference for board of education members June 11-12.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today in continued hesitancy over the prospects for inflation and interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down less than a point after opening trades.

But more New York Stock Exchange issues were advancing in price than declining. Trading was light.

Investors have been studying recent statements by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns and fluctuations in interest rates for a clue to what moves the Fed might be planning in its effort to control inflation.

Burns said Monday that inflation is still a matter of concern and told the Senate Banking Committee that the Fed has lowered slightly its target range for the growth in the nation's money supply over the next year.

U.S. Steel was up 3/4 to 8 1/4 in early trading today. General Motors was up 1/4 to 70 1/2 and American Telephone rose 1/4 to 57 1/2.

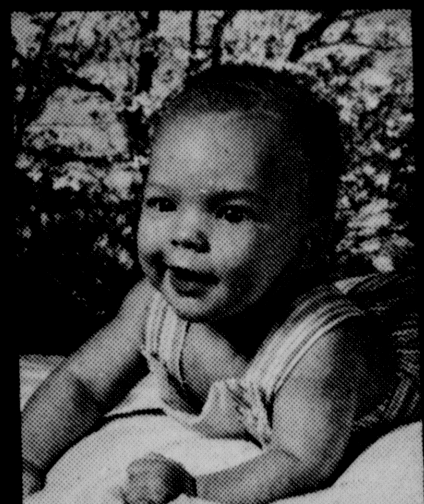

On Monday, the Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.53 to 990.32, and declining NYSE issues led those advancing by a 10-3 margin.

Women against themselves

Gallup Poll results show that champions of equal rights for women have a big selling job to do - among women. Women have lagged behind men in support of the Equal Rights Amendment. Though a majority of them feel that persons of their sex are discriminated against in various ways, often their views in specific cases would appear to work against improved opportunity for women.

Six to one, for example, American women say they would rather work for a man than for a woman. When it comes to lawyers, doctors and bankers, a preponderance of women would prefer to deal with men. As to politics, women would be somewhat less ready than men - 71 per cent as against 75 per cent - to vote for a qualified woman for president.

This does not warrant the conclusion that women in general are against "liberation" of their sex. On general questions, they score high in support of betterment of women's role in American society. Three-quarters of them, compared with a mere 25 per cent in the late 1930s, think women should have jobs outside the home; nearly half say they would like full-time outside employment. There is a strong wave of complaint about sex discrimination in job opportunities and pay, in educational and political opportunities, in obtaining credit, and so on.

What we have here is a familiar syndrome. For instance, polls often show people saying they favor the First Amendment yet going along with proposed curbs on free speech or freedom of assembly. There is a split between responses to general questions and to specific questions. If women want equal rights they must come to understand how specific things - their own willingness to accept women as bosses and political candidates, for example - uphold the generality.

Carter's foes picking wrong issue?

Nice guys, said Leo Durocher when he was snarling at umpires, finish last. Well, what do you make of Jimmy Carter, the bicuspid kid from Georgia peanut country?

Jimmy is a nice guy from away back, and he has been running away with the Democratic primaries. He fudges his points, which ought to get him condemned as a trimmer. But he has a way of making his fuzziness about such things as busing and abortion seem rooted in a real concern for his listeners' feelings, and this lets him off a lot of hooks. As a religious man, he exudes compassion. Nobody has really pinned him down on the subject of being charitable with other people's money, but when the time comes for an explanation he will surely find a non-abrasive straddle for that, too.

I can accept the "nice guy" image as a partial explanation for Carter's ballot box appeal. But when he won in Pennsylvania, a supposed "labor" state, there had to be more to it than an expression of religiosity and a dazzling smile.

Could it be that Carter got 37 per cent of the Pennsylvania presidential preference vote as compared to Scoop Jackson's 25 per cent and Mo Udall's 19 per cent all on his own? Isn't it a more likely explanation that Jackson and Udall picked the wrong issues on which to go to the public?

Jackson, for example, let it be known that he was AFL-CIO boss George Meany's buddy-buddy, a ferocious opponent of right-to-work laws and an enemy of "runaway" industrialists who were closing their factories in the North in order to avail themselves of cheap labor in the South.

There is no doubt that the union bosses are against state right-to-work laws and would welcome labor contracts that would be uniform from the mill towns of New Hampshire to the bayous of Louisiana. But in poll after poll the file of labor has shown that it is no great enemy of voluntary unionism.

As for the "runaway" factory argument in Pennsylvania, it just doesn't make much sense. Pennsylvania is steel country, and you just don't pick up steel plants and transplant them to South Carolina or Mississippi, where there is no coking coal and the rail and road distance to Detroit's automobile factories would make the shipment of raw steel extremely expensive.

The plain fact is that, outside of the Philadelphia area, Scoop Jackson's labor dependency failed him. A more puzzling matter is where the non-black "ethnics" went. Jackson's anti-Soviet stand should have commended him to all the Pennsylvania descendants of East European minorities. No doubt "ethnic" support accounted for at least some of the Jackson vote, but foreign policy apparently was less of an issue in Pennsylvania than in North Carolina, where Reagan beat Jerry Ford by some last minute denunciations of the Kissinger be-kind-to-Russia syndrome.

Could the Pennsylvania primary be taken as the latest bit of proof that there is no "labor" vote as such in the America of 1976? Jimmy Carter, outside of his rather petty statement that he would not veto a Federal law designed to prohibit state right-to-work laws, has not kowtowed to the official labor hierarchies. His response to Jackson's perfunctory chastisement of the South for "stealing" factories from the North was commonsensical.

The fact is that much of the plant building in the South has not been at the expense of the North; it has been a simple matter of national companies expanding their operations to take advantage of population growth in the "southern rim" states.

Without taking anything away from Carter as a personality-plus kid, it could be that he is winning primaries by default. Most of the country is out of sympathy with Udall-type liberalism. And Henry Jackson, is now appealing for votes from "labor" constituencies that are probably just as tired of strikes as average citizens, sick of putting up with recalcitrant teachers or stubborn San Francisco municipal employees.

Steel price hikes face federal study

CLEVELAND (AP) — Four steel companies announced price increases last week, indicating the competitive and cost pressures which exist among steelmakers, Industry Week says.

The round of steel price increases was kicked off by Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., the nation's ninth largest steel producer, which raised its prices of flat-rolled products by about 8 per cent. The firm said it had lost $2.5 million in this year's first quarter, compared with an $11.2 million profit a year earlier.

Wheeling officials told the trade weekly the firm couldn't wait any longer for one of the bigger producers to initiate price hikes on sheet products, which make up 85 per cent of Wheeling's shipments.

Inland Steel Co. followed with hikes ranging from 6.3 per cent to 6.9 per cent and Alan Wood Steel Co. joined in.

On Friday, U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel company, announced a 6 per cent price increase on its sheet and strip products. A U.S. Steel spokesman blamed the increase on the cost of labor and materials on the price increase.

The U.S. Steel price hikes affect those products most used by the appliance and automobile industries.

Officials of the Wage and Price Council have said they will review the price increases.

A report by Paul Marshall, a professor at the Harvard Business School and a consultant for the White House's Wage and Price Council, underscores the necessity for more individualistic price and marketing actions by steelmakers, the publication says.

Marshall's study of the steel industry supports the argument by steel companies that they need more revenues for expansion and other needs. "The U.S. steel industry has not made large profits relative to the rest of U.S. industry," Marshall told Industry Week.

The professor added that prices would have to increase of existing products to be maintained.

For the week ending April 24, raw steel production was 2,681,000 net tons and for the week ending May 1 the magazine estimates raw steel production will be 2,684,000.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She's flipped over neighbor's blinks

DEAR ABBY: My husband is having an affair with a widow who lives right across the street. When he passes her house, he blinks his lights and she flips her venetian blinds. They signal each back and forth, and then he makes up excuses to get out of the house to meet her.

He says they are only good friends, but I know that she is man-hungry and not at all fussy who she goes with. I also know that she likes my husband. How should I put a stop to this?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: You can't stop a man from blinking his lights or a woman from flipping her venetian blinds. If you think he is "blinking" for her and she is "flipping" for him, get them both together and have a truth-or-consequence session.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my in-laws: When I married their son (three years ago) I had a beautiful, 2-year-old daughter who had been born out of wedlock. Debbie never saw her "real" father, so the only relatives she has are mine.

My in-laws let me know from the beginning that they would never accept Debbie as their grandchild. (They even asked her to call them "Mr and Mrs. Brown.")

This never bothered me too much until I gave birth to Johnny, who is nearly 2 now.

Last Christmas my in-laws showered Johnny with expensive gifts signed, "With love from Grandma and Grandpa." Little Debbie got a cheap toy with a card, "From the Browns."

Abby, don't you think it's utterly ridiculous for one of my children to call my in-laws "Grandma and Grandpa," and the other "Mr. and Mrs. Brown"?

This situation is tearing me apart. What do you advise?

HURT IN BATON ROUGE

DEAR HURT: Where is your husband while all this is going on? If he puts up with it shame on him. You have every right to avoid your in-laws and prevent them from seeing Johnny until they can treat both children equally. They are wrong, wrong, wrong!

DEAR ABBY: This is for OREGON MOTHER who complained because her adopted Oriental children attract so much attention where ever they go.

Human nature is the same all over the world, Abby. We are Americans living in Taiwan temporarily for business reasons. We have two children, 3 and 4 years old, and they have had about all they can take of having their cheeks pinched and their blond hair touched.

Crowds or giggling salesgirls and curious shoppers stare and point at them, and native youngsters peer around corners just to get a look at them.

At first my children sensed my annoyance, and they became upset, wondering what was "wrong" with them. But then I realized that their curiosity was natural and they didn't mean to be rude. I reacted good-humoredly and so did the children.

We enjoy Dear Abby in the Stars and Stripes. It's like a daily letter from home.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew, who resigned the vice presidency in 1973 after pleading no contest to a charge of evading federal income taxes, isn't seen on television very often. But that'll change soon.

On Tuesday, a week from today, he'll be interviewed for an hour on NBC's "Today" show, the show says. And he'll appear in a taped 90-minute interview the same night on the syndicated "Merv Griffin Show" here.

The reason: He has written "The Canfield Decision," a novel about White House life, and is promoting his first effort in the literary field.

"He's making the whole circuit," says Bob Murphy, producer of the Griffin show, the first of the talk shows to get Agnew as a guest.

Murphy says getting the usually reclusive Agnew wasn't hard. A press agent for Agnew called him up and asked if he'd like to have Agnew on the show to discuss the book.

He said the press agent was told yes, whereupon Agnew last April 19 showed up at the Hollywood studio where Griffin tapes his show and did an interview lasting the entire length of the program.

The pay: $354, the same fee paid all of Griffin's guests.

"He actually didn't want to be paid, but we have to pay everyone who comes on," Murphy said, citing the rules of the performers' union, the American Federation of Radio and Television artists.

Murphy was asked if the former vice president set any ground rules for the interview.

"Well, I had a conversation with him beforehand because Merv didn't want to do the interview if he was shackled too much," Murphy said.

He said Agnew told him he "could not talk about events leading up to his resignation because of pending litigation in Maryland, that he didn't want to speak about presidential candidates and that he didn't want to speak about (former) President Nixon."

Did he say why he didn't want to discuss Nixon?

"No, he just said he preferred not to," Murphy replied. "I should make this clear, though — Agnew didn't say certain questions couldn't be asked. He said, 'Merv can ask me anything he wants. It's just that I might not answer some.'"

SELECT SEED

As you plant that garden this spring, I hope you are checking varieties if you plan to freeze vegetables. Many people tell me that my family just doesn't like frozen green beans! When I help them check the source of the toughness many times it turns out that they did not pick a variety suitable for freezing. A free leaflet from our office, "Vegetable Varieties for Ohio Home Gardens" serves as an excellent guide.

When you stop by our office at 319 South Fayette Street be sure to check out other lawn, flower and garden bulletins available.

GETTING READY FOR FREEZING

Just as variety selection is important for tasty frozen foods, other factors alter the fine flavor of home frozen foods. Proper storage is a key factor in keeping flavor at its peak. We need to use moisture vapor-proof materials such as aluminum foil, polyethylene bags, freezer film wrap and plastic and metal containers. Once properly wrapped, these vegetables need to be stored at 0 degrees F. or below. Properly prepared vegetables will keep for 10 months.

Before those peas, rhubarb and strawberries, get ready for freezing. Let's get that freezer ready for them. Freezers should be defrosted at least once a year and right now when garden contents are getting low is a good time.

To keep the remaining food frozen, put it in covered boxes and work as quickly as possible. My favorite method is to unplug the freezer and set pans of boiling water on towels in the bottom and close the lid. Then I use a clean rubber dust pan to gently scrap down the frost where it begins to come loose. I scoop up the icy sheets with the dust pan. I find this quicker and easier than letting the frost completely melt. But, one word of warning! Never use a sharp knife or instrument that could damage the freezer. This is why I use the rubber dust pan.

A baking soda and warm water solution is still recommended for wiping out the freezer. Rinse and dry thoroughly. When returning food to the freezer, wipe off each piece with a turkish towel, in case moisture has formed on the packages.

A FREEZER STORAGE PLAN

If you found lots of just certain vegetables left, maybe this means a change is in order. Ask yourself: Did I grow too much of this vegetable? How well does my family like it? Did I remember it when planning meals?

To help you provide your family a good variety of top quality frozen foods be sure to ask for the following free bulletins and charts: U.S.D.A. Bulletin No. 10 "Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables and O.S.U. Bulletin No. 369 "Freezing and Using Vegetables, Fruits, and Prepared Foods".

As I returned last year's vegetables to the freezer, I put these in a special basket in the freezer. This way they are right on top and keep them in mind when planning meals. With the result I've started of what's going in new and what's coming out, I don't have to guess "What's left in the freezer?"

Annual Phi Beta Psi Tea-Dance held at WashingtonCountry Club

The Second annual Phi Beta Psi Tea-Dance took place Sunday in the Washington Country Club. A social hour preceded the buffet-style dinner which was followed by dancing to the music of The Stoneys of Circleville.

Each table was decorated with checked pastel cloth centered with a single pastel carnation. The buffet table was centered with a floral arrangement.

Mrs. James Cunningham, chapter president, welcomed members and guests, and made introductions. Two charter members, Miss Elizabeth McDonald and Miss Kathleen Davis, were present. All active, inactive, and associate members were extended invitations.

Garden Club hears arthritis representative

Fayette Gallery exhibits in place

Seven people from the Columbus area, all members of the Central Ohio Weavers Guild, will exhibit some of their work this month, beginning today, in the Fayette Center Gallery. Osage Braid, overshot pattern weaves, laid-in embroidery weave, Peruvian, double weave, inkle, encompass the various techniques in this traditional display of the fiber crafts.

Barb Decker has fashioned a red, white and blue doll made in two layers on the loom; Phyllis Kemnitzer a portrait of George Washington in patriotic colors; Joan Tsbouris a fashionable handbag; Margeite Schreiber a wall hanging titled "American Kaleidoscope;" and Wendy Smith a kaleidoscopic "Abigail Adams;" Jane Kuwanas' "July Fourth" complete with firecrackers, Rick Decker's "Snail Trail and Cats Paw" a colonial overshot pattern in blue and white.

It is evident that all items were influenced by the 200th birthday of this nation. These and more await your viewing at the Fayette County Bank.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. CRABLE

Anderson-Crable marriage in Madison Mills Church

Madison Mills Chapel was the setting for the marriage April 17 of Miss Jeanette Anderson and Robert Allen Crable. The Rev. Harold Messmer performed the double ring candlelight ceremony at 4:30 p.m. in the chapel of Madison Mills United Methodist Church for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crable of Grove City. Arrangements of assorted spring garden flowers adorned the altar.

Mrs. Stephen Huff, vocalist, and Mrs. Paul Huff, organist, presented wedding selections I Only Have Eyes for You, Turn Around, Love is a Many Splendored Thing, April Love, The Lord's Prayer, O Perfect Love, At Dawning, Leibestraum, The Greatest Story Ever Told, Always, Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus and Mendelssohn Wedding March.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Anderson wore a gown of white nyesta knit with a high neckline, long fitted Alencon lace sleeves. The yoke of Alencon lace, re-embroidered with seed pearls and covered buttons closed the cuffs. Scalloped Venice lace finished the hemline into the chapel-length train. Her headpiece was of matching knit, finger folded high crown applied, with lace to match the wedding gown. A chapel-length English illusion veil and lace edged elbow-length blusher was attached to the headpiece.

The bride carried an arrangement of white roses, and lily of the valley from the garden of Mrs. Harlan Baird and one orange rose with a touch of color from each of her attendant's bouquets with streamers of polished sweetheart ivy.

Miss Lynette Anderson, maid of honor for her twin sister, wore a gown of knit jersey with gathered low neckline tied halter style at the back. The slim skirt fell fuller at the hemline. An open waist length jacket was made of crocheted knit and closed with one button at the neck. A small hood fell at the back. Five colors of the rainbow were used in apricot, Nile, lilac, yellow and blue for the other attendants, Mrs. Roxie Anderson of Rt. 1, Williamsport, Miss Jo Rowe of 4268 White Rd., Mrs. Pam Jones, London, and Miss Phylliss Ford, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling.

The headpieces matched the dresses in color and were made Juliet style with a fabric finger folded into a band with a sprinkling of baby's breath, lilies of the valley and daisies. Each carried a colonial bouquet with assorted spring garden flowers with dotted Swiss streamers which matched their gowns, except the maid of honor who carried a colonial bouquet of orange roses and other spring flowers.

Stephen Crable of Chicago, Ill., served as best man for his brother. Seating the wedding guests were Dave Murray of Grove City, Robert (Chip) Jackson and Jerry Daniels, both of Mount Sterling, and Jim Merrill of Columbus.

Woman awarded Poverello medal

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mother Teresa of Calcutta, India, has been awarded the Poverello Medal, highest honor of the College of Steubenville, for her work in India with the "poorest of the poor."

The medal is presented by the school to the person it feels best exemplifies the teachings of St. Francis.

Mother Teresa has been working in Calcutta since 1948, primarily with abandoned children.

In accepting the medal on Sunday, she said, "One of the biggest problems in the world is people who are unwanted and unloved — people who have nobody to call their own.... The biggest thing we have to give people is love — knowing somebody loves them."

For county employees

Commissioners study changes in medical insurance program

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners met Monday afternoon with representatives of Blue Cross of Central Ohio to discuss possible changes in the medical insurance program for employees.

The county is considering extending the present medical program. The extended benefits would cost an additional $1.56 per month for single coverage and $4.03 for family protection.

Additional services rendered under the "major medical" plan are coverage of physician's home or office calls, private duty nursing by a registered nurse at home or in a hospital, private duty nursing by a licensed practical nurse in a hospital, blood and plasma after the first two pints, prescription drugs taken at home, appliances, braces, crutches, and other supplemental equipment as well as local ambulance service.

The major medical coverage, however, has a deductible clause for the first $100 per year for an individual and $300 per year for the family. This means that the first $100 or $300 must be paid by the policy holder.

The commissioners noted that the county pays the medical policy premiums for its employees.

MOUNT EBER ditch has been repaved by Mrs. Robert Corzatt and Mrs. Stephen Colburn, both of Ohio 41-N.

After having approved a petition on the ditch earlier this year, the county commissioners later rescinded that approval. They found they could not have the contract work bonded because of errors in the engineer's report which accompanied the petition.

The entire petitioning process will have to be repeated, and the first hearing has been set for June 14.

The proposal calls for improvement of a 1,175-foot stretch from Ohio 41-N to Paint Creek.

Road improvements proposed by the county engineer were approved by the commissioners Monday. Eight separate projects covering slightly more than 25 miles.

The majority of the work will be resurfacing and improvement of the berms.

County highway department personnel will haul materials, but the paving, leveling and rolling of the road surfaces will be let for bids from contractors.

The total cost estimate of the projects is $311,000, and bids will be received until June 7.

On June 7, the commissioners will also open bids on two new sheriff's cruisers. One 1974 model cruiser will be traded, and the sheriff's fleet will increase by one vehicle.

The commissioners will view the Marion ditch at 10 a.m. Friday. A petition has been filed for improvement of the ditch.

Inventories of county vehicles in use have been supplied by all county departments except the sheriff's office and the engineer's department, the commissioners said. All such reports were due in January.

County dog warden Reginald (Chink) Davis stated that he had received 38 dog complaints during the past week. He filed his reports with the commissioners.

Judge fines two persons

During Monday's non-traffic docket in Washington C.H. Municipal Court, a Washington C.H. woman was fined $500 and sentenced to a 30-day jail term.

Janie Tyree, 23, of 831 John St., was fined $500 and sentenced to 30 days in jail with all the time suspended for assault. Judge Robert L. Simpson also placed her on probation for one year.

A Sabina resident, Kimberly Babb, 19, was fined $100 with all the amount suspended and sentenced to 10 days in jail with all the time suspended for passing a $27.40 bad check at the Carter Lumber Co., 4994 CCC Highway-W, on March 10.

Kenny Osborne, 18, of 819 Lakeview Ave., was found not guilty of tampering with the property of another.

A disorderly conduct charge against Dean S. Byrd, 49, of 1013 John St., was dropped at the request of the prosecuting witness.

SCOL diamond race still tight

Trace cold in loss to Eagles

LONDON—The Miami Trace Panthers lost another South Central Ohio League baseball contest Monday evening dropping their record at 5-5, but coach Mike Henry thinks his Panthers still have a shot at the league title.

Miami Trace ran into some tough pitching from Madison Plains' Jim Eitel and dropped a 4-2 contest in the cold at the Golden Eagles' diamond.

The Panthers' fall to .500 with the loss, doesn't mean Henry's squad is out of the race. In fact none of the eight league teams can be counted out yet. Every team has at least three losses with several tough games left on the schedule.

Circleville holds the league lead with a 6-3 mark followed by Hillsboro (5-4) and Plains (6-4). Miami Trace is in third followed by Unioto, Washington C.H. and Wilmington with 4-5 records.

Henry predicted before the season started that the league champion would have at least three losses. Now, he admits he may have miscalculated.

Madison Plains jumped to a 1-0 lead in the third frame off Panther starter Allan Conner Monday. The Panthers came back with a pair of runs in the fourth to take a brief lead.

With one out Dennis Combs doubled and Mark Tubbs drove him in with a single. Tubbs then moved to third on a balk and a wild pitch and scored on Joe Black's RBI single.

The Eagles came back to take the lead for good in the bottom of the fourth inning with a two-run outburst. Pete Sullivan led off with a single. After designated hitter Chuck Bartee popped up to first, Willis drove Sullivan in with a double. Eitel then flew out to left field, but Doug Sifrit broke the tie with a single.

The Eagles got an insurance run in the fifth before Conner was replaced by Stu Foster on the mound. Foster shut down the Eagles in two innings of work allowing only one hit. However, Eitel was doing the same to the Panthers. He got credit for the win striking out nine batters and walking only two.

Dave Saunders and Sifrit led the Golden Eagles hitting attack with two safeties apiece. Combs had two hits for the Panthers.

The Panthers will meet Chillicothe Thursday in the first-round sectional tournament game. They return to SCOL action Friday against Unioto.

No homers, 11 hits

Perez finds season 'frustrating time'

CINCINNATI (AP) — This is a frustrating time for the Cincinnati Reds' Tony Perez, who once hit 40 home runs in a season, but so far for this season, he has no home runs and only 11 hits.

Perez's record season came in 1970 when he opened the year with 10 home runs in April, a National League record which has since been bettered by Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh and Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia.

Perez has 258 lifetime home runs, not counting three in championship play, three in the World Series and one in All-Star competition.

His last homer was a memorable one, coming in the seventh game of the World Series with the Boston Red Sox trailing 3-0. Bill Lee of the Boston Red Sox tried one of his "blooper" pitches and the Reds' first baseman put it over the ball in left field.

"I didn't think I'd ever go this long without a home run," admitted Perez.

He does not know what is causing the power shortage. "I can't get the ball up. I am just missing my pitches," he said.

He's had bad times before. "I don't worry about it. It isn't the first time," he said.

For example, last season he had one of those 0-for-6 days on Opening Day and when May rolled around, he was hitting only .172. Still he had four homers and 18 runs batted in.

By the end of the year, he had caught fire and was hitting .282 with 20 home runs.

This year so far, it's no homers and 11 runs batted in.

Perez' problems are nothing, though, compared to those of his roommate Dave Concepcion. Concepcion suffered through an 0-for-8 afternoon Sunday which is a slump in itself. That made the Perez-Concepcion combination 0-for-14 for the afternoon.

Concepcion's average dropped to .163 after Sunday's game.

Perhaps Perez and Concepcion can be consoled by the example provided by Reds' catcher Johnny Bench. Once suffering at the plate along with Perez and Concepcion, Bench has 12 hits in 20 tries in his last five games, a .600 clip. His average, once as low as .080, has jumped to .281.

Goosebumps in Cleveland

Cavs eye awesome Celtics

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The Boston Celtics...just saying it can give you goosebumps."

That was the way Cleveland Cavaliers Coach Bill Fitch put his feelings about the vaunted National Basketball Association powerhouse into words earlier this season.

Now his young Cavaliers face the awesome task of playing the veteran Celtics in the best-of-seven NBA Eastern Conference playoff finals.

Worse yet, the Celtics will hold the homecourt advantage on the basis of a better regular season record.

News of Boston's decisive sixth-game victory over Buffalo Sunday brought to mind the early season assessment of the Celtics by the Cleveland mentor.

"The thing that separates the Celtics from other teams is the intensity which they bring to every game," Fitch explained. "We (the Cavaliers) get that kind of intensity for a few games and then come out flat for a game or two.

"We'll be a great team when we can have the same kind of intensity the Celtics bring to every game along with their talent," he added.

Fitch went to Boston and Buffalo to scout the final two games of that series after his Cavs tripped the Washington Bullets in seven games. Watching those games didn't change his opinion of Boston.

"Boston is quick, smart, powerful, can rebound and they can shoot," Fitch said. "Their quickness is their best weapon. It will force us to make a big adjustment."

Comparing the Celtics to the Bullets, Fitch added, "Boston is quicker than Washington. We've got to make them play our game and because of all their veterans, it will be tough to do."

The Cleveland coach was particularly impressed the Celtics were able to play the Braves to a 2-2 tie in their playoff series while superstar forward John Havlicek sat on the bench with an injured left foot.

"They (the Celtics) were able to fight adversity and the loss of Havlicek because of the way Nellie (Don Nelson) played," Fitch explained. "Nelson played some great basketball for them in that series, and everyone else did their jobs."

"Hondo (Havlicek) is back now, and he gives them motion all the time," he said.

Fitch smiled his impish smile and added, "You know, the Celtics and Havlicek have always gotten cheered by our fans when they come here. I'll say we've made it if Havlicek gets booed now like (Washington's) Elvin Hayes got it."

The first two games of the series are scheduled at Boston Thursday night and Sunday. The teams then come to Cleveland for games Tuesday, May 11, and Friday, May 14.

Middle Schoolers place in GM meet

GREENFIELD — Two Washington Middle School tracksters placed in the 13-team Greenfield McClain Junior High School Invitational track meet Saturday.

Justin Rummer took sixth in the 1,320 yard (three laps) run and David Cooper took home a medal for a third-place finish in the pole vault.

Cooper cleared the bar at 9'0" and it was his first loss in the event. He had won the pole vault in the Middle School's previous three meets.

Hillsboro won the annual meet which features the top teams in central Ohio and Washington C.H. placed last.

The Blue Lions will travel to Chillicothe on Wednesday for a triangular meet. David Johnson is the team's coach this year, and there are no home meets scheduled due to the poor condition of the Gardner Park track.

Sonnie gains linebacker slot with New York Jets

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Wally Sonnie thought his fears had been confirmed: no National Football League team wanted his playing services.

After all the NFL had plucked off 492 players from the college campuses in two days of drafting. The Ohio University defensive end was not among them.

A few hours after the draft concluded, however, scout Ralph Baker of the New York Jets telephoned Sonnie and asked him to sign a three-year free agent contract with the NFL team.

"It didn't shock me that I wasn't drafted, but I was depressed," said Sonnie.

"But then I figured Baker didn't call me just to tell me I hadn't been drafted in one of the late rounds. Then he asked me if I would be interested in signing with the Jets.

"I told him I'd have to check with my parents first."

Sonnie won the approval of his parents and met the New York scout at Columbus International Airport to sign his NFL pact.

Sonnie, although not revealing specific terms, described the contract "as very lucrative."

The Jets plan to use the 6-foot-2, 230-pound former Ohio co-captain at middle linebacker.

At county fair

Board designates 'bicentennial day'

The Fayette County Agricultural Society (fair board) Monday night designated Monday, July 26 "bicentennial day" for the 176 Fayette County Fair.

The highlight of the "bicentennial day" will be an old-fashioned high-wheel sulky race featuring local drivers at the Monday night harness races.

Eddie Kirk, president of the fair board, has asked that any groups wanting to participate in the "bicenennial day" activity to contact him. The fair board is hopeful that other activities can be planned in conjunction with the "bicentennial day" activities.

In other business conducted during the regular monthly meeting, the board members heard progress reports on the installation of the new roof on the Mahan Building and the tractor pull track project. The tractor pull track is being constructed in the X infield of the race track.

Traffic Court

In addition to other punishment, a Kentucky man was given a ten day jail term for driving while intoxicated in Monday's Washington C.H. Municipal Court traffic session.

Judge Robert L. Simpson levied a fine of $250, a 10-day jail term, and the suspension of driving privileges for 90 days upon Lawrence E. Tucker, 39, of Cattlesburg, Ky. He had been found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

Spring was due to return to Ohio today.

Sunny skies were expected by afternoon, along with a return of southwesterly winds, causing temperatures to rise into the upper 50s over most of Ohio, possibly reaching the low 60s along the Ohio River.

Rapid warming will take place as a ridge of high pressure moves from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Coast and temperatures in Ohio Wednesday will be well up into the 70s.

The approach of a new storm front moving out of Canada may cause some late afternoon or evening thunderstorms followed by cooler temperatures again on Thursday as the front moves into Ohio.

Kiwanis salutes 'assistants'

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club met Monday night in the Terrace Lounge for the regular weekly dinner meeting.

Mike Campbell was in charge of the program which centered around the honoring of those people who had helped the Kiwanis Club with the recent teen talent show. A small token of appreciation was given to Mrs. Cinda Stinson, Mrs. Paula Campbell, and Gary Browning, for their efforts which helped to make this year's show a tremendous success.

Tim Walters, of the Gregg Street Church, was unable to attend the meeting but he was thanked for his help with the sound system which was borrowed from the church. Others who were responsible for organizing the show will be honored at a later date.

Tom LeVan, who was co-chairman with Campbell for this year's show, thanked the committee chairmen for their help and Campbell thanked all of the club members for their efforts.

New members who were welcomed into the club were Robert K. Moore, traffic clerk at the Armco Steel Corp.,

who was sponsored by George Gibbs, and the Rev. Richard Ward.

At the next Kiwanis meeting, Susan Link, the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Washington C.H. commercial manager will speak.

Jury gets Moore case

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The federal extortion trial of Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. headed toward a seven-woman, five-man jury today.

Final fragments in the defense of codefendant William Loy, rebuttal witnesses and closing arguments remained today as the trial resumed after a three-day recess.

U.S. District Judge Joseph Young instructed the jurors last week to arrive with an overnight bag, prepared to stay until they reach a verdict.

Moore and Loy are charged with conspiring to extort $25,000 from Theodore R. Price, president of Diversified Mountaineer Corp., in 1972. Price wanted a state bank charter and Moore was running for re-election that year.

The prosecution called 13 witnesses, Moore's defense 21 and Loy's defense seven during the first nine days of the trial. Loy's attorney, Edward Eardley, said he had several other witnesses to call to complete his case.

Opening lead - eight of clubs.

To be a good dummy player you must be a worrier. You can't afford to relax merely because the particular contract you're playing seems easy to make.

Take a case like this one, where you're in six hearts and West leads a club. If you win it in dummy with the king and return a trump, as most declarers would do, you go down one. West wins the trump with the ace, plays another club which East ruffs, and you wind up going minus 100 instead of plus 1,630.

But if you're the worrying kind you make the contract. As soon as dummy comes down, you start fussing about what can happen to stop you from making the slam. It wouldn't take you too long to conclude that the only real danger is the possibility of a club ruff.

West's club lead, in the face of North's club bid, looks mighty suspicious. It seems likely that he was either trying to get a club ruff for himself, or trying to give his partner one.

The right thing to do under these circumstances is to look for a countermeasure to stop this from happening. Fortunately, when you study the situation, you find that something can be done to nip West's plan in the bud.

Accordingly, at trick two, you play a low spade to the ace, then cash the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond in dummy. After discarding a club on the king of spades, you play a trump to force out the ace. Only then can you afford to relax.

The hand goes to show that a little worrying at the right time and the right place can do a lot of good.

Is All Aspirin the Same?

My head hurts, mostly from all the commercials about special kinds of aspirin, all competing for my attention. Is one aspirin as good as another? If so, why is there such a difference in cost?

Mrs. G. S., Ohio
Dear Mrs. S.: Aspirin is universally accepted as a valuable and effective drug when used judiciously.

It still remains one of the most beneficial drugs for many cases of chronic rheumatoid arthritis and to reduce the aches and fever of ordinary respiratory infections.

All aspirin made by reliable manufacturers must be considered the same in its effectiveness. The wide disparity in the cost of aspirin must therefore be attributed only to packaging and advertising and not to the quality of the aspirin.

Have you ever heard of a "Saturday night" disease?

Miss D. D., Minn.
Dear Miss D.: A special type of paralysis of the arm has been referred to as "Saturday night paralysis."

The name originated because it is associated with "Saturday night" alcoholic bouts. During these bouts, the arms may be loosely thrown over the back of a chair, remaining in this position for a long time.

Paralysis is caused by a compression of nerves and blood vessels in the axilla, or armpit.

The paralysis is usually temporary. Its duration depends on the severity of the injury to the nerve.

More sober people who keep their arms in such a fixed position recognize the tingling sensation in the tips of their fingers and, of course, change their position and prevent damage to the nerve.

Is leprosy included in the list of venereal diseases?

Mr. J. T., Miss.
Dear Mr. T.: No, it is not. Leprosy is an infectious disease caused by a germ closely related to the one that causes tuberculosis.

Since it is an infectious disease, it can be transmitted from person to person. It is definitely not a venereal disease and must not carry with it any social stigma.

In areas where leprosy still exists, great strides have been made with drugs as a preventative.

Another group of drugs has been remarkably effective in treating and controlling some forms of leprosy.

In Focus by Charlie Pensyl

The photo exhibit at the Fayette County Fair this year should reflect the up-swing in interest in the photo darkroom. With the lousy stuff on the boob tube forcing more and more lensmen into the darkroom, together with the breakthroughs in color darkroom chemistry, this year has found many amateurs rediscovering the fun of making their own photographic prints. That goes for black-and-white and color.

If you were one of those who had fun making prints back a few years ago, you'll get a shock as you learn of the new processes and techniques. For one thing, RC papers have simplified and shortened the process since these new papers don't absorb the chemicals and therefore don't demand the washing time of the old papers. New chemicals tend to make the work easier and results surer. Then there's color printing. Yes, color printings is easier and simpler and less time-consuming than the black-and-white stuff. And lots more fun! CIBACHROME is the magic key to color print fun. You should tune in on this stuff.

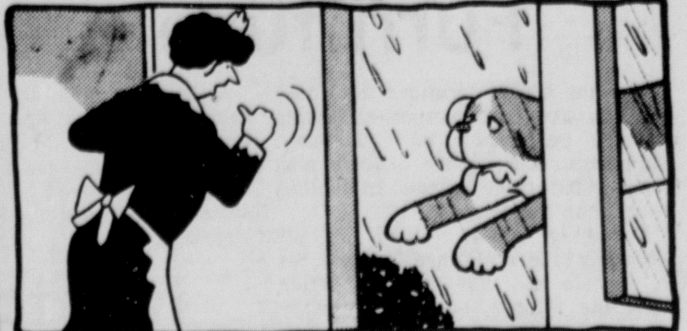

Then there is the fun of processing your own color slides. We have many folks who enjoy push-processing their HIGH-SPEED EKTACHROME ASA to 640, or even 1000. And some are pushing GAF 500 to ASA 1000. The GAF slide processing kit is inexpensive and easy to use.

There is a booming business these days in the darkroom how-to-do-it books, such as BIGGER AND BETTER ENLARGING, by Nibbelink and Anderson, CREATIVE DARKROOM TECHNIQUES, and DO IT IN THE DARK. Come in and get the pitch on the return to the darkroom.

Furniture thefts probed

A roving wicker furniture thief may be responsible for two reported Temple Street larcenies on Monday. Washington C.H. police officers also investigated three alleged malicious destruction incidents.

A wicker chair valued at $75 belonging to Mrs. Howard Osborne, 511 E. Temple St., was reported stolen sometime Sunday or early Monday morning from the front porch.

Nearby, at Mrs. Kenneth Arnold's residence, 112 E. Temple St., two wicker chairs described as being in "excellent" condition were reported stolen from her front porch between 1 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Earl McDaniels, 607 Gibbs Ave., told police officers that two juveniles entered his 727 Peabody Street home, chopped holes in the walls, cut the electrical wiring, and caused an estimated $150 worth of damage. McDaniels said the incident occurred around 4:45 p.m. Monday.

A section of a stain glass window, on the west side of the Grace United Methodist Church, 301 E. Market St., valued at $150, was reportedly broken by subjects between 4 p.m. Friday and 4 p.m. Monday.

Robert Entekin, 449 Broadway St., told police officers that while he was away from his home, someone broke three boards from his back fence. The incident is believed to have occurred sometime between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Monday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that Derek E. Wilson, 10, of 1322 Grace St., was bitten on the finger by a cat. The Friday incident resulted in the youth being later treated and released from Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

Ironton man injured as two rigs collide

A Monday afternoon collision between two tractor trailer rigs resulted in injury to an Ironton man, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported. A Blackstone Avenue accident was investigated by Washington C.H. police officers.

A tractor trailer rig headed south on the I-71 exit ramp to U.S. 35, and driven by Earl Ratliff, 39, of Vallonia, Ind., reportedly pulled across U.S. 35 into the path of another tractor rig, west-bound on the roadway. A collision ensued, and the driver of the second rig, John W. Nelson, 36, of Ironton, was injured. He was taken to Ironton General Hospital, and then treated and released. The 3:45 p.m. Monday accident caused severe damage to Ratliff's rig and slight damage to Nelson's tractor trailer. Ratliff was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

Kathy E. Metcalf, 23, of 1152 E. Paint St., told police officers that while she was backing from a private driveway on Blackstone Avenue, just north of E. Paint Street, she failed to see another car and struck it at 4:25 p.m. Monday. The other car was driven by Rose A. Morris, 34, of 1107 Rawlings St. Both cars were slightly damaged, and Ms. Metcalf was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Attorney fee case heard

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The question of whether the state should pay some $40,000 in legal fees to an attorney who represented inmates of Marion Correctional Institution was considered in federal court Monday.

Judge Don J. Young of U.S. District Court heard arguments whether to pay the money to Niki Schwartz, a Cleveland attorney who represented the inmates in a legal action that resulted in a report by a court investigator critical of the prison.

The investigator examined the prison to determine if a federal order from 1972 was being followed. He found that job assignment discrimination against black prisoners at the prison persisted. The hearing was to determine whether prison staff complied with the federal order of 1972 and improved conditions since then. E.P. Perini, prison superintendent, and W.J. Whalen, an administrative assistant, testified.

Young gave Schwartz a week to file a brief supporting his position that he should be paid for representing the inmates. The prison attorneys will then receive a week to respond, followed by five days for Schwartz to answer. The judge will then decide whether the money should be paid.

Firemen check dryer blaze

Washington C.H. firemen were summoned Monday to check a dryer that had previously been on fire.

The fire had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived at approximately 8:40 a.m. Monday. The incident occurred at the John Dunn residence, 267 Carolyn Road.

Arrests

SHERIFF

MONDAY — Earl Ratliff, 39, of Vallonia, Ind., failure to yield at a stop sign.

POLICE

MONDAY — Kathy E. Metcalf, 23, of 1152 E. Paint St., failure to yield right of way; John R. Lutz, 28, of 671 Willabar Drive, no driver's license and failure to display license plates.

Indiana, Georgia, Alabama voting

Three states hold primary elections

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer

The political campaign reaches its busiest primary day of the season so far as voters in three states help decide today whether Ronald Reagan can take the Republican presidential nomination by overcoming Gerald Ford and the built-in advantages of an incumbent President.

Ford and Reagan meet headon in Georgia, Alabama and Indiana as

For WSHS students

City board considers college-level courses

By GEORGE MALEK

Increased emphasis on the academic high school curriculum was discussed by the Washington C.H. Board of Education at its meeting Monday.

The discussions were prompted by a suggestion from Wilmington College representatives that college-level courses be offered to high school students.

The college has suggested the possibility of having professors instruct special classes at Washington Senior interest shifts to the GOP race intensified by Reagan's sweep on Saturday of Texas' 96 delegates in a landslide even the former California governor hadn't foreseen.

That marks a complete shift from a short six weeks ago, when Ford seemed to be coasting toward nomination and the Democratic contest was still a free-for-all that was anything but the Jimmy Carter runaway it now seems to be.

Ford made a late swing through Indiana and Alabama Monday, challenging Reagan at one point to produce his income tax records. The challenger promptly did so.

The President was on the offensive much of the time, attacking Reagan's plan to trim the federal budget as a "990 billion blooper" and continuing the debate over the Panama Canal, an issue given credit for helping Reagan in Texas.

There are Democratic races today in all three states as well as in the District of Columbia. There are a total of 177 Democratic delegates to be picked, and Carter, the former Georgia governor, is in good position to win at least two-thirds of them with little trouble.

But the Republican side, where there are 139 delegates at stake, is another story. After Texas, Ford's delegate lead has been narrowed to 283-236, and if Reagan does well he could take the lead, although there are 254 uncommitted delegates from New York and Pennsylvania who are actually in Ford's camp.

Here is how the GOP primaries line up:

INDIANA (54 delegates): Two months ago, Ford's polls gave him a 25 per cent lead, but surveys now show Reagan closing. State Republican leaders, most of whom back Ford, predict the President will win. So does Ford. Reagan does not predict a victory but says it will be close.

GEORGIA (48 delegates): Reagan, as he has predicted, has swept through the South and Southwest. And he's believed to be doing well in Georgia, where he's counting on Democratic crossovers from George Wallace to help him, as they apparently did in Texas. Ford's state campaign director, Joe Wilkinson, says, "That could shoot us down pretty bad."

ALABAMA (37 delegates): Another Southern state where Reagan hopes for Wallace crossovers. Ford, conceding he is the underdog, campaigned there Monday, the state's three GOP congressmen at his side, and hopes to cut into the challenger's margin.

Wallace, whose supporters may be a factor in the Republican contest, is the only major challenger to Carter in the two Southern primaries, although Rep. Morris K. Udall has slates in two Georgia congressional districts and a few scattered candidates in Alabama.

Carter and Wallace each are favored in their home states, but each has campaigned strenuously in the other. Carter is given a better chance to make inroads in Alabama (27 delegates elected and eight more chosen afterward) than Wallace is in Georgia (50 delegates), particularly if the Alabama governor loses crossovers to Reagan.

Carter is also expected to do well in Indiana, where 75 delegates will be chosen. Wallace is on the ballot there, too, but Sen. Henry M. Jackson ceased his active campaigning last week and Udall was disqualified when he failed to get the required signatures in one congressional district.

The District of Columbia chooses 17 delegates, but only Carter campaigned actively there, although Udall and Fred Harris are also on the ballot. The major interest is local, a fight between two uncommitted slates headed by Mayor Walter Washington and Walter Fauntroy, the district's nonvoting delegate in Congress.

There is no Republican primary in the district. The GOP slate, all 14 delegates pledged to Ford, has already been chosen.

Plans completed for 1976 season

Swimming pool opens May 29

Plans have been completed by officials of the Washington Park Association for the 1976 swimming season. The pool, located at 110 W. Oakland Ave., will open at 1 p.m. Saturday, May 29 and will close Monday, Sept. 6.

Bob Bane, pool manager, said memberships will continue to be closed. Persons previously holding memberships will be given an opportunity to renew first. New Members will be accepted only by the approval of the membership committee.

Letters of information concerning 1976 pool membership renewals have been sent to those who held 1975 memberships, Bane said. All persons previously holding memberships will have until May 15 to renew them.

The number of master memberships will remain at 775, the pool manager stated. After May 15, new members only will be issued memberships according to the priority of application and recommendation of the membership committee. Associate memberships are limited to the immediate family of a master membership holder up to 18 years of age, unless they are in school or military service, Bane added.

Master memberships, cost $30, and associate memberships are $6 each. There is no charge for lessons for members; no instruction is provided for anyone who is not a member. Members are also entitled to the use of the park shelter house and picnic areas.

Bane said at the present time there is a long waiting list of persons who desire to become members for the first time. Those persons who are scheduled to receive new memberships this year will be contacted following the May 15 deadline for renewals. Persons not receiving memberships this year will be automatically placed on next year's waiting list.

Bane said other pool employees for the 1976 season will be:

Mrs. Shirley Willoughby, assistant manager and supervisor of instruction; Sharon DeWees, assistant manager and instructor; Jonelle Shoemaker, Julie Shoemaker, Lynn Rapp and Dick Penwell, instructors and life guards; Diane Lewis, Kris Henkle, Teri Mount, Mark Heiny, Johnna Upthegrove, and Barb Oswald, life guards; and Loree Johnson, Julie Looker, Lisa English, Cindy Vaughn and Laurie Lisk, baby pool guards. Part-time employees will be Kim Henkle, Toni Conley, Sue Moore and Scott Johnson.

William Pool is president of the Washington Park Association's board of directors and Mrs. James Wilson is membership secretary.

Swimming pool hours will be from 1 until 8:45 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays; 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. for lessons on Mondays through Fridays, and from 1 until 8:45 p.m. Monday through Friday for general swimming.

The pool will be cleared from 12:30 until 1 p.m. daily.

An adult swim break will be held from 3 until 3:30 p.m. and from 7:15 until 7:45 p.m. daily, depending on crowd size and weather conditions. The baby pool will be closed during the adult breaks.

Registration for swimming instructions will be held from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. June 1 through June 4 and June 7 through June 11. Swimming classes will be offered June 14 through July 9 and from August 2 through August 27. Pre-school children will not be accepted for swimming instructions.

Life saving qualifications will be July 12. Classes in life saving will be held July 13-24. The life saving course is scheduled so as to not conflict with the Fayette County Fair, Bane said.

Since school will be in session until June 4, the hours will be changed during those weekdays according to the weather. The schedule will be announced at a later date.

Bellow leads Pulitzer Prize winners

NEW YORK (AP) Author Saul Bellow has won the 1976 Pulitzer prize for fiction with "Humboldt's Gift," a novel whose characters speak of the revered award with utter disdain.

"I'm very delighted," said Bellow, 60, a faculty member of the University of Chicago who has been passed over four previous times for the prize.

Gene Miller of the Miami Herald won a Pulitzer for news reporting, and author Paul Horgan was honored in the history category — the second time each won prizes.

The Anchorage Daily News, which has a staff of 20 and a circulation of 16,500, won the gold medal for public service for its investigation into the Teamsters union's growing impact on Alaska's economy and politics.

The prize for special local reporting went to the staff of the Chicago Tribune for uncovering widespread abuses in federal housing programs in Chicago. In the field of drama, the Broadway hit "A Chorus Line" won a Pulitzer. The musical, created and directed by Michael Bennett, recently received a Tony award for best musical of the year.

A special award for contribution to American music was announced for Scott Joplin, the one-time "King of Ragtime," who died penniless 59 years ago.

Sydney H. Schanberg of The New York Times won the international reporting prize for his coverage "at great risk" of the Communist takeover of Cambodia and the uprooting of its people. Schanberg remained behind in the Cambodian capital after the government's surrender.

The prize for national reporting went to Des Moines Register reporter James Risher, a lawyer, for his exposure of a major scandal in the U.S. export trade.

The 11 journalism and seven other prizes in letters, drama and music were announced Monday by Columbia University, on the recommendations of an advisory board.

Endowed by the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer, the prizes were awarded first in 1917. They carry a $1,000 prize for each winner, with the exception that the newspaper winning the public service award gets a gold medal.

Bellow calls "Humboldt's Gift" a "comic book about death." In it, Humboldt, a poet, observes:

"The Pulitzer is for the birds — for the pullets. It's just a dummy newspaper publicity award given by crooks and illiterates. You become a walking Pulitzer ad, so even when you croak the first word of the obituary is 'Pulitzer prize winner passes.'"

Four books by Bellow, "Henderson the Rain King," "The Adventures of Augie March," "Herzog," and "Mr. Sammler's Planet" had been in the running for previous Pulitzer prizes.

Miller was cited for courageous general reporting over an 8½-year period that led to the exoneration of two men twice convicted of murder and sentenced to death in Florida.

In 1967, he won the prize for special reporting for producing evidence in two separate cases that freed a man and woman wrongfully convicted of murder.

At age 72, Horgan won the history prize for "Lamy of Santa Fe," the story of the first Roman Catholic archbishop in the Southwest. He also won the history prize in 1955, for "Great River:

The Rio Grande in North American History."

Philip P. Kerby, a 64-year-old senior editorial writer for the Los Angeles Times, won the 1976 editorial writing award for his critical assessment of secrecy in government and court-imposed censorship of trial proceedings.

A graduate of the underground weekly field, Tony Auth, 33, won the 1976 prize for editorial cartooning as a staff member of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

One Auth cartoon showed Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev singing in the middle of a vast American wheat field, "O beautiful for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain."

Stanley Forman, 30, of the Boston Herald American won the spot news photography award for his shots of a fire escape collapse in a Boston fire and the five-story fall of a woman and child.

The feature photography award went to the 17-member photo staff of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times for coverage of court-ordered busing with its attendant violence.

For New Holland firemen

Fire alert systems studied in village

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

NEW HOLLAND — The New Holland Village Council took steps to install tone alert radio systems in the homes of volunteer firemen at Monday night's monthly session.

Initial plans call for the purchase of 12 units, one for each fireman in the Marion and Perry township volunteer fire departments. The tone alert systems could be triggered by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department when a fire alarm is called in.

Volunteer fireman in the New Holland area are presently notified by telephone.

The estimated cost of the system is $2,500 according to village mayor Ed Summers. He said a 50 per cent grant from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources will hopefully be obtained for the systems.

The village council received some bad news Monday when Mayor Summers was notified that a Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant application for improvement of the village's water system had been rejected. Summers said the village will now have to obtain a Farmers Home Administration loan or some other government grant to finance the project.

Council also turned two proposals over to committees for further study during Monday night's meeting.

A proposed purchase of a used highway department truck for village use was referred to the purchasing committee which should make a decision later this month. The truck will be used for various village jobs including snow removal.

A proposal to purchase a radar unit for the police chief was referred to the safety committee. Summers said the cost of the unit was estimated at $1,500. The village's present unit is reportedly obsolete and doesn't function properly.

Council decided to contact the Fayette and Pickaway county dog wardens and report recent complaints of loose dogs. Summers said most of the complaints were coming from the village's southeast section where residents have reported stray dogs running through their gardens. Summers added that citizens can file charges against dog owners who allow their pets to stray, because it is in violation of village ordinance.

Council also spent time discussing the construction of a house in the village. The Pickaway County Board of Health had issued a building ban because of inadequate sewage facilities. Arthur Newell, who is building the house, apparently received an okay to build from the county by mistake, Summers said.

Since Newell had already begun to build before the mistake was discovered, the county will permit the construction. Summers said he understood the decision to let Newell complete his house is "a one-time affair." He added that Newell will be required by the county health board to install an aerator and sand filter.

IN OTHER council action, a request by the New Holland Chamber of Commerce for the use of Main Street and the village park for a July Fourth bicentennial celebration was approved. The chamber will sponsor the festivities in cooperation with various civic organizations in the village.

Village residents will be urged to clean up yards and eliminate "unsightly messes" in a gesture in connection with the upcoming bicentennial celebration.

The New Holland Lions Club and Armo were commended for improvement projects at the village park. The Lions Club donated new picnic tables and repaired others in the park's shelter house while Armo constructed new dugouts at the park's baseball diamond.

Coffee Break...

THE FAYETTE County Sheriff's Department has been receiving numerous complaints of persons representing themselves as deputies.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson said aside from the regular deputies in uniform, the department has one investigator and 12 auxiliary officers. He said there are no honorary or special deputies or undercover officers. Undercover agents are supplied by the Bureau of Criminal Investigation in London. O.M. (Monty) Montgomery, a local merchant policeman, has a commission as a deputy and is the only person outside of the department who holds such a commission, the sheriff stated.

Sheriff Thompson urged Fayette County residents to contact the sheriff's office concerning persons making false representations as sheriff's office personnel.

THE WASHINGTON C.H. Jaycees have announced that their May business meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the community room above the Clinton County Bank in Sabina.

The local Jaycees are attempting to establish a chapter in Sabina. All interested young men between the ages of 18 and 35 years are welcome to attend.

DEDICATION ceremonies will be held at Fayette County Memorial Hospital at 1 p.m. Sunday.

The dedication will be held in the emergency room lobby to honor construction which took place during 1975-76.

Refreshments will be available in the lobby afterwards and tours of the new facility will follow immediately.

Ohio food costs increase

By JOE MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chicken became a bargain word in Ohio grocery stores this month as prices reached a 17-month high at the end of April.

An Associated Press survey of prices on 16 items in 17 Ohio cities cost an average of $18.66. This is the highest since Dec. 1, 1974 when the cost averaged $18.99.

Coffee continued the increase which started last August and $5.00 or more for a three-pound can became the norm. Some grocers held the line at $4.99. The average of all cities was $4.68, up 20 cents for the month.

"It seems like there is no end to it on coffee at all," said a Chillicothe grocery manager who asked not to be named. "It is supposed to go up again and I figure sales on coffee will drop off 20 per cent and coffee will go up another 40 cents per pound."

Similar comments came from an Akron grocer.

"I don't see an end to it," he said of coffee prices, "and there will be another big jump next week."

Hamburger was the only meat item in Ohio that did not go up in price at month's end, holding steady with the previous month at 85 cents per pound.

Average price of a pound of chuck roast at the 17 cities rose from $1.00 April 1 to $1.12 May 1. Chicken went up three cents to 61 cents per pound for whole fryers and pork chops increased two per cent to $1.79 per pound for center cuts.

Milk held steady at 74 cents for a half-gallon and margarine went up two cents, three per cent, to 55 cents for a pound in sticks.

Eggs declined five per cent on average to 65 cents for a dozen white medium and toilet tissue dropped one cent to 78 cents for a four-roll pack. Bread was down one cent for a one-pound loaf and sugar held steady at $1.21 for five pounds of granulated.

Potatoes rose six per cent to $1.70 for ten pounds of white Idahos and detergent increased an average of one cent to $1.35 for a 49 ounce box.

Chocolate chip cookies, the steadiest

price-wise on the list, averaged 98 cents for a 14½ ounce pack.

Frozen orange juice dropped two cents to 67 cents for a 12-ounce can.

The average of all items by cities: Akron, $19.49, up 12 per cent over April 1; Athens, $19.20, up two per cent; Canton, $17.18, up one per cent; Chillicothe, $19.20, up one per cent; Cincinnati, $18.79, up four one-hundredths of a per cent; Cleveland, $18.63, up four per cent; Columbus, $19.79, up three per cent; Conneaut, $17.53, up two per cent; Findlay, $17.53, up two per cent.

Fremont, $18.64, up five per cent; Massillon $16.81, up two per cent; Portsmouth, $20.22, up two per cent; Salem, $18.78, up two per cent; Steubenville, $20.10, up three per cent; Toledo, $17.48, up four per cent; Youngstown, $18.86, up nine one-hundredths of a per cent.

Van Wert was the only city checked in Ohio where lower prices were recorded. The average cost there of $18.08 for the total list, compares with $19.07 a month ago.

Women against themselves

Gallup Poll results show that champions of equal rights for women have a big selling job to do - among women. Women have lag behind men in support of the Equal Rights Amendment. Though a majority of them feel that persons of their sex are discriminated against in various ways, often their views in specific cases would appear to work against improved opportunity for women.

Six to one, for example, American women say they would rather work for a man than for a woman. When it comes to lawyers, doctors and bankers, a preponderance of women would prefer to deal with men. As to politics, women would be somewhat less ready than men - 71 per cent as against 75 per cent - to vote for a qualified woman for president.

This does not warrant the conclusion that women in general are against "liberation" of their sex. On general questions, they score high in support of betterment of women's role in American society. Three-quarters of them, compared with a mere 25 per cent in the late 1930s, think women should have jobs outside the home; nearly half say they would like full-time outside employment. There is a strong wave of complaint about sex discrimination in job opportunities and pay, in educational and political opportunities, in obtaining credit, and so on.

What we have here is a familiar syndrome. For instance, polls often show people saying they favor the First Amendment yet going along with proposed curbs on free speech or freedom of assembly. There is a split between responses to general questions and to specific questions. If women want equal rights they must come to understand how specific things - their own willingness to accept women as bosses and political candidates, for example - uphold the generality.

Carter's foes picking wrong issue?

Nice guys, said Leo Durocher when he was snarling at umpires, finish last. Well, what do you make of Jimmy Carter, the bicuspid kid from Georgia peanut country?

Jimmy is a nice guy from away back, and he has been running away with the Democratic primaries. He fudges his points, which ought to get him condemned as a trimmer. But he has a way of making his fuzziness about such things as busing and abortion seem rooted in a real concern for his listeners' feelings, and this lets him off a lot of hooks. As a religious man, he exudes compassion. Nobody has really pinned him down on the subject of being charitable with other people's money, but when the time comes for an explanation he will surely find a non-abrasive straddle for that, too.

I can accept the "nice guy" image as a partial explanation for Carter's ballot box appeal. But when he won in Pennsylvania, a supposed "labor" state, there had to be more to it than an expression of religiosity and a dazzling smile.

Could it be that Carter got 37 per cent of the Pennsylvania presidential preference vote as compared to Scoop Jackson's 25 per cent and Mo Udall's 19 per cent all on his own? Isn't it a more likely explanation that Jackson and Udall picked the wrong issues on which to go to the public?

Jackson, for example, let it be known that he was AFL-CIO boss George Meany's buddy-buddy, a ferocious opponent of right-to-work laws and an enemy of "runaway" industrialists who were closing their factories in the North in order to avail themselves of cheap labor in the South.

There is no doubt that the union bosses are against state right-to-work laws and would welcome labor contracts that would be uniform from the mill towns of New Hampshire to the bayous of Louisiana. But in poll after poll the file of labor has shown that it is no great enemy of voluntary unionism.

As for the "runaway" factory argument in Pennsylvania, it just doesn't make much sense. Pennsylvania is steel country, and you just don't pick up steel plants and transplant them to South Carolina or Mississippi, where there is no coking coal and the rail and road distance to Detroit's automobile factories would make the shipment of raw steel extremely expensive.

The plain fact is that, outside of the Philadelphia area, Scoop Jackson's labor dependency failed him. A more puzzling matter is where the non-black "ethnics" went. Jackson's anti-Soviet stand should have commended him to all the Pennsylvania descendants of East European minorities. No doubt "ethnic" support accounted for at least some of the Jackson vote, but foreign policy apparently was less of an issue in Pennsylvania than in North Carolina, where Reagan beat Jerry Ford by some last minute denunciations of the Kissinger be-kind-to-Russia syndrome.

Could the Pennsylvania primary be taken as the latest bit of proof that there is no "labor" vote as such in the America of 1976? Jimmy Carter, outside of his rather timid statement that he would not veto a Federal law designed to prohibit state right-to-work laws, has not kowtowed to the official labor hierarchies. His response to Jackson's perfunctory chastisement of the South for "stealing" factories from the North was commensensal.

The fact is that much of the plant building in the South has not been at the expense of the North; it has been a simple matter of national companies expanding their operations to take advantage of population growth in the "southern rim" states.

Without taking anything away from Carter as a personality-plus kid, it could be that he is winning primaries by default. Most of the country is out of sympathy with Udall-type liberalism. And Henry Jackson, is now appealing for votes from "labor" constituencies that are probably just as tired of strikes as average citizens, sick of putting up with recalcitrant teachers or stubborn San Francisco municipal employees.

The maximum number of years during which the bonds will run is twenty-two (22) years and the estimated average additional tax rate, outside of the ten-mill limitation, to pay the interest thereon and to retire the same, as certified by the County Auditor, will be one and seven-tenths (1.7) mills per dollar ($1.00) of tax valuation, which amounts to seventeen cents ($0.17) for each one hundred dollars ($100.00) of tax valuation.

Steel price hikes face federal study

CLEVELAND (AP) — Four steel companies announced price increases last week, indicating the competitive and cost pressures which exist among steelmakers. Industry Week says.

The round of steel price increases was kicked off by Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., the nation's ninth largest steel producer, which raised its prices of flat-rolled products by about 8 per cent. The firm said it had lost $2.5 million in this year's first quarter, compared with an $11.2 million profit a year earlier.

Wheeling officials told the trade weekly the firm couldn't wait any longer for one of the bigger producers to initiate price hikes on sheet products, which make up 85 per cent of Wheeling's shipments.

Inland Steel Co. followed with hikes ranging from 6.3 per cent to 6.9 per cent and Alan Wood Steel Co. joined in.

On Friday, U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steel company, announced a 6 per cent price increase on its sheet and strip products. A U.S. Steel spokesman blamed the increasing cost of labor and materials on the price increase.

The U.S. Steel price hikes affect those products most used by the appliance and automobile industries.

Officials of the Wage and Price Council have said they will review the price increases.

A report by Paul Marshall, a professor at the Harvard Business School and a consultant for the White House's Wage and Price Council, underscores the necessity for more individualistic price and marketing actions by steelmakers, the publication says.

Marshall's study of the steel industry supports the argument by steel companies that they need more revenues for expansion and other needs. "The U.S. steel industry has not made large profits relative to the rest of U.S. industry," Marshall told Industry Week.

The professor added that prices would have to increase of existing profits are to be maintained. For the week ended April 24, raw steel production was 2,681,000 net tons and for the week ending May 1 the magazine estimates raw steel production will be 2,684,000.

The huge Navy dirigible Shenandoah crashed during a storm over Noble County, Ohio, Sept. 3, 1925. Commander Zachary Lansdowne, one of the 14 men who were killed, was a native of Greenville.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She's flipped over neighbor's blinks

DEAR ABBY: My husband is having an affair with a widow who lives right across the street. When he passes her house, he blinks his lights and she flips her venetian blinds. They signal each back and forth, and then he makes up excuses to get out of the house to meet her.

He says they are only good friends, but I know that she is man-hungry and not at all fussy who she goes with. I also know that she likes my husband. How should I put a stop to this?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: You can't stop a man from blinking his lights or a woman from flipping her venetian blinds. If you think he is "blinking" for her and she is "flipping" for him, get them both together and have a truth-or-consequence session.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my in-laws. When I married their son (three years ago) I had a beautiful, 2-year-old daughter who had been born out of wedlock. Debbie never saw her "real" father, so the only relatives she has are mine.

My in-laws let me know from the beginning that they would never accept Debbie as their grandchild. (They even asked her to call them "Mr and Mrs. Brown.")

This never bothered me too much until I gave birth to Johnny, who is nearly 2 now.

Last Christmas my in-laws showered Johnny with expensive gifts signed, "With love from Grandma and Grandpa." Little Debbie got a cheap toy with a card, "From the Browns."

Abby, don't you think it's utterly ridiculous for one of my children to call my in-laws "Grandma and Grandpa," and the other "Mr. and Mrs. Brown"?

This situation is tearing me apart. What do you advise?

HURT IN BATON ROUGE

DEAR HURT: Where is your husband while all this is going on? If he puts up with it shame on him. You have every right to avoid your in-laws and prevent them from seeing Johnny until they can treat both children equally. They are wrong, wrong, wrong!

DEAR ABBY: This is for OREGON MOTHER who complained because her adopted Oriental children attract so much attention where ever they go.

Human nature is the same all over the world, Abby. We are Americans living in Taiwan temporarily for business reasons. We have two children, 3 and 4 years old, and they have had about all they can take of having their cheeks pinched and their blond hair touched.

Crowds or giggling salesgirls and curious shoppers stare and point at them, and native youngsters peer around corners just to get a look at them.

At first my children sensed my annoyance, and they became upset, wondering what was "wrong" with them. But then I realized that their curiosity was natural and they didn't mean to be rude. I reacted good-humoredly and so did the children.

We enjoy Dear Abby in the Stars and Stripes. It's like a daily letter from home.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, May 4, the 125th day of 1976. There are 241 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1626, the Dutch colonizer, Peter Minuit, landed on Manhattan Island. It was Minuit who bought the island from the Indians for trinkets worth $24.

On this date:
In 1814, Napoleon Bonaparte went into exile on the island of Elba.

In 1863, Confederate forces defeated the Union armies in the Civil War Battle of Chancellorsville in Virginia.

In 1904, the United States took possession of the Panama Canal Zone. In 1942, the Pacific War Battle of the Coral Sea began.

In 1945, German troops in Denmark surrendered as the Western Allies were near victory in Europe in World War II.

In 1961, the first group calling themselves "freedom riders" set out by bus from Washington, D.C., bound for New Orleans to challenge segregation in interstate buses and at terminals.

Ten years ago: Protestants of eight U.S. denominations adopted principles for merger after five years of talks.

Five years ago: U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers arrived in Egypt on a Middle East tour to try to restore peace between Israelis and Arabs.

One year ago: Representatives of 50 nations met in Geneva to review the treaty to limit the spread of nuclear weapons.

Today's birthdays: Actress Audrey Hepburn is 47. Soprano Roberta Peters is 46.

Thought for today: I believe that we are lost here in America, but I believe we shall be found — Thomas Wolfe, American writer, 1900-1938.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, the Massachusetts Provincial Congress at Watertown ordered seizure of the property of Loyalists who had left Boston with the British when they evacuated the city.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Your perceptiveness and good judgment in familiar activities could be a boon in certain situations. You COULD try something new if so inclined, but don't go beyond your depth.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Excellent prospects for starting or developing new business associations. An unusual idea could spark an entirely different approach in career matters, also.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A good day for closing deals profitably or arriving at accords which will make them possible later. Cut a few corners if you can.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Precautions and prudence must be your bywords now. Be especially careful in business transactions, experimentation and personal relationships.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Talks with superiors and (or) associates could be quite revealing. Wholehearted cooperation will be offered — freely and graciously.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Get important matters out of the way by noon, if possible. Certain planetary restrictions in the p.m. could bring about delays, unexpected interruptions.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Present planetary influences suggest that you now take the lead where you can to help in straightening out situations which could worsen through neglect.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mars in benefic aspect. Rouse yourself to that added effort which brings sweet compensation for extra-curricular work. Stay alert, aware.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

People about you may seem less open-minded and enthusiastic about your ideas now, but with a bit of clever strategy, you can turn the tide.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

New offerings indicated. Not all should be accepted without question. On the other hand, don't pass up any without investigation.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Stellar influences indicate changing trends in certain areas. You won't like them all immediately, but many are better than they appear at first glance. Study!

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Curb inclinations to extremism and avoid the bizarre. Strict conformists could misconstrue your actions — to your detriment.

YOU BORN TODAY, like most Taureans, are endowed with unusual versatility and could succeed in almost any field of your choice. However, you incline to scatter your energies and, unless you learn to "settle down" and pursue your chosen career to its ultimate potential, could fritter away your many talents — accomplishing nothing. You are one of those rare persons who combine idealism with practical know-how so that, once you have learned the merits of self-discipline and concentration, you can have success without end. Taureans make excellent musicians, writers, artists, scientists, teachers and horticulturists.

LAFF - A - DAY

"I understand you've discovered something called 'fire.'"

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew, who resigned the vice presidency in 1973 after pleading no contest to a charge of evading federal income taxes, isn't seen on television very often. But that'll change soon.

On Tuesday, a week from today, he'll be interviewed for an hour on NBC's "Today" show, the show says. And he'll appear in a taped 90-minute interview the same night on the syndicated "Merv Griffin Show" here.

The reason: He has written "The Canfield Decision," a novel about White House life, and is promoting his first effort in the literary field.

"He's making the whole circuit," says Bob Murphy, producer of the Griffin show, the first of the talk shows to get Agnew as a guest.

Murphy says getting the usually reclusive Agnew wasn't hard. A press agent for Agnew called him up and asked if he'd like to have Agnew on the show to discuss the book.

He said the press agent was told yes, whereupon Agnew last April 19 showed up at the Hollywood studio where Griffin tapes his show and did an interview lasting the entire length of the program.

The pay: $354, the same fee paid all of Griffin's guests.

"He actually didn't want to be paid, but we have to pay everyone who comes on," Murphy said, citing the rules of the performers' union, the American Federation of Radio and Television artists.

Murphy was asked if the former vice president set any ground rules for the interview.

"Well, I had a conversation with him beforehand because Merv didn't want to do the interview if he was shackled too much," Murphy said.

He said Agnew told him he "could not talk about events leading up to his resignation because of pending litigation in Maryland, that he didn't want to speak about presidential candidates and that he didn't want to speak about (former) President Nixon."

Did he say why he didn't want to discuss Nixon?

"No, he just said he preferred not to," Murphy replied. "I should make this clear, though — Agnew didn't say certain questions couldn't be asked. He said, 'Merv can ask me anything he wants. It's just that I might not answer some.'"

Gen. George G. Meade commanded the forces of the victorious Union Army at the Battle of Gettysburg from July 1 to 3, 1863.

SELECT SEED

As you plant that garden this spring, I hope you are checking varieties if you plan to freeze vegetables. Many people tell me that my family just doesn't like frozen green beans! When I help them check the source of the toughness many times it turns out that they did not pick a variety suitable for freezing. A free leaflet from our office, "Vegetable Varieties for Ohio Home Gardens" serves as an excellent guide.

When you stop by our office at 319 South Fayette Street be sure to check out other lawn, flower and garden bulletins available.

GETTING READY FOR FREEZING

Just as variety selection is important for tasty frozen foods, other factors alter the fine flavor of home frozen foods. Proper storage is a key factor in keeping flavor at its peak. We need to use moisture vapor-proof materials such as aluminum foil, polyethylene bags, freezer film wrap and plastic and metal containers. Once properly wrapped, these vegetables need to be stored at 0 degrees F. or below. Properly prepared vegetables will keep for 10 months.

Before those peas, rhubarb and strawberries, get ready for freezing, let's get that freezer ready for them. Freezers should be defrosted at least once a year and right now when garden contents are getting low is a good time.

To keep the remaining food frozen, put it in covered boxes and work as quickly as possible. My favorite method is to unplug the freezer and set pans of boiling water on towels in the bottom and close the lid. Then I use a clean rubber dust pan to gently scrap down the frost where it begins to come loose. I scoop up the icy sheets with the dust pan. I find this quicker and easier than letting the frost completely melt. But, one word of warning! Never use a sharp knife or instrument that could damage the freezer. This is why I use the rubber dust pan.

A baking soda and warm water solution is still recommended for wiping out the freezer. Rinse and dry thoroughly. When returning food to the freezer, wipe off each piece with a turkish towel, in case moisture has formed on the packages.

A FREEZER STORAGE PLAN

If you found lots of just certain vegetables left, maybe this means a change is in order. Ask yourself: Did I grow too much of this vegetable? How well does my family like it? Did I remember it when planning meals?

To help you provide your family a good variety of top quality frozen foods be sure to ask for the following free bulletins and charts: U.S.D.A. Bulletin No. 10 "Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables and O.S.U. Bulletin No. 369 "Freezing and Using Vegetables, Fruits, and Prepared Foods".

As I returned last year's vegetables to the freezer, I put these in a special basket in the freezer. This way they are right on top and keep them in mind when planning meals. With the record I've started of what's going in new and what's coming out, I don't have to guess "What's left in the freezer?"

Fayette Gallery exhibits in place

Seven people from the Columbus area, all members of the Central Ohio Weavers Guild, will exhibit some of their work this month, beginning today, in the Fayette Center Gallery. Osage Braid, overshot pattern weaves, laid-in embroidery weave, Peruvian, double weave, inkle, encompass the various techniques in this traditional display of the fiber crafts.

Barb Decker has fashioned a red, white and blue doll made in two layers on the loom; Phyllis Kemnitzer a portrait of George Washington in patriotic colors; Joan Tsibouris a fashionable handbag; Margeite Schreiber a wall hanging titled "American Kaleidoscope;" and Wendy Smith a colonial overshot "Abigail Adams;" Jane Kuwanas "July Fourth" complete with firecrackers, Rick Decker's "Snail Trail and Cats Paw" a colonial overshot pattern in blue and white.

It is evident that all items were influenced by the 200th birthday of this nation. These and more await your viewing at the Fayette County Bank.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. CRABLE

Anderson-Crable marriage in Madison Mills Church

Madison Mills Chapel was the setting for the marriage April 17 of Miss Jeanette Anderson and Robert Allen Crable. The Rev. Harold Messmer performed the double ring candlelight ceremony at 4:30 p.m. in the chapel of Madison Mills United Methodist Church for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crable of Grove City.

Arrangements of assorted spring garden flowers adorned the altar.

Mrs. Stephen Huff, vocalist, and Mrs. Paul Huff, organist, presented wedding selections I Only Have Eyes for You, Turn Around, Love is a Many Splendored Thing, April Love, The Lord's Prayer, O Perfect Love, At Dawning, Leibstraum, The Greatest Story Ever Told, Always, Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus and Mendelssohn Wedding March.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Anderson wore a gown of white nyesta knit with a high neckline, long fitted Alencon lace sleeves. The yoke of Alencon lace, re-embroidered with seed pearls and covered buttons closed the cuffs. Scalloped Venice lace finished the hemline into the chapel-length train. Her headpiece was of matching knit, finger folded high crown applique with lace to match the wedding gown. A chapel-length English illusion veil and lace edged elbow-length blusher was attached to the headpiece.

The bride carried an arrangement of white roses, and lily of the valley from the garden of Mrs. Harlan Baird and one orange rose with a touch of color from each of her attendant's bouquets with streamers of polished sweetheart ivy.

Miss Lynette Anderson, maid of honor for her twin sister, wore a gown of knit jersey with gathered low neckline tied halter style at the back. The slim skirt fell fuller at the hemline. An open waist length jacket was made of crochet type knit and closed with one button at the neck. A small hood fell at the back. Five colors of the rainbow were used in apricot, Nile, lilac, yellow and blue for the other attendants, Mrs. Roxie Anderson of Rt. 1, Williamsport, Miss Jo Rowe of 4268 White Rd., Mrs. Pam Jones, London, and Miss Phylliss Ford, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling.

The headpieces matched the dresses in color and were made Juliet style with a fabric finger folded into a band with a sprinkling of baby's breath, lilies of the valley and daisies. Each carried a colonial bouquet with assorted spring garden flowers with dotted Swiss streamers which matched their gowns, except the maid of honor who carried a colonial bouquet of orange roses and other spring flowers.

Stephen Crable of Chicago, Ill., served as best man for his brother. Seating the wedding guests were Dave Murray of Grove City, Robert (Chip) Jackson and Jerry Daniels, both of Mount Sterling, and Jim Merrill of Columbus.

Ohio loser in return on taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio taxpayers paid $700 million more in federal tax than was returned to the state in the form of grants in 1975, the Ohio Public Expenditure Council said.
The council said that state and local governments received about $1.8 billion in federal grants-in-aid for the 1975 fiscal year, while taxpayers contributed $2.5 billion in federal taxes. The state received $35 million more in grants than in the previous fiscal year.
The state ranked third highest in the proportion of tax dollars paid to federal grant money returned, the council said. For every dollar of aid received, taxpayers paid about $1.40 in tax.
The council said it obtained its figures from a formula that computes the amount of the national tax burden carried by each state. Nineteen other states also paid taxes in excess of the amount of grant money returned.
Twenty-eight states paid less than $1 per person for every dollar in grant aid and three states paid the same amount of tax as it received in federal aid.
Florida was listed as having the greatest tax burden, paying $1.46 per dollar of aid, while Alaska taxpayers paid 42 cents for every dollar in grant support.

Woman awarded Poverello medal

STEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mother Teresa of Calcutta, India, has been awarded the Poverello Medal, highest honor of the College of Steubenville, for her work in India with the "poorest of the poor."
The medal is presented by the school to the person it feels best exemplifies the teachings of St. Francis.
Mother Teresa has been working in Calcutta since 1948, primarily with abandoned children.
In accepting the medal on Sunday, she said, "One of the biggest problems in the world is people who are unwanted and unloved — people who have nobody to call their own... The biggest thing we have to give people is love — knowing somebody loves them."

For county employees

Commissioners study changes in medical insurance program

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners met Monday afternoon with representatives of Blue Cross of Central Ohio to discuss possible changes in the medical insurance program for employees.

The county is considering extending the present medical program. The extended benefits would cost an additional $1.56 per month for single coverage and $4.03 for family protection.

Additional services rendered under the "major medical" plan are coverage of physician's home or office calls, private duty nursing by a registered nurse at home or in a hospital, private duty nursing by a licensed practical nurse in a hospital, blood and plasma after the first two pints, prescription drugs taken at home, appliances, braces, crutches, and other supplemental equipment as well as local ambulance service.

The major medical coverage, however, has a deductible clause for the first $100 per year for an individual and $300 per year for the family. This means that the first $100 or $300 must be paid by the policy holder.

The commissioners noted that the county pays the medical policy premiums for its employees.

MOUNT EBER ditch has been repiped by Mrs. Robert Corzatt and Mrs. Stephen Colburn, both of Ohio 41-N.

After having approved a petition on the ditch earlier this year, the county commissioners later rescinded that approval. They found they could not have the contract work bonded because of errors in the engineer's report which accompanied the petition.

The entire petitioning process will have to be repeated, and the first hearing has been set for June 14.

The proposal calls for improvement of a 1,175-foot stretch from Ohio 41-N to Paint Creek.

Road improvements proposed by the county engineer were approved by the commissioners Monday. Eight separate projects covering slightly more than 25 miles.

The majority of the work will be resurfacing and improvement of the berms.

County highway department personnel will haul materials, but the paving, leveling and rolling of the road surfaces will be let for bids from contractors.

The total cost estimate of the projects is $311,000, and bids will be received until June 7.

On June 7, the commissioners will also open bids on two new sheriff's cruisers. One 1974 model cruiser will be traded, and the sheriff's fleet will increase by one vehicle.

The commissioners will view the Marion ditch at 10 a.m. Friday. A petition has been filed for improvement of the ditch.

Inventories of county vehicles in use have been supplied by all county departments except the sheriff's office and the engineer's department, the commissioners said. All such reports were due in January.

County dog warden Reginald (Chink) Davis stated that he had received 38 dog complaints during the past week. He filed his reports with the commissioners.

Judge fines two persons

During Monday's non-traffic docket in Washington C.H. Municipal Court, a Washington C.H. woman was fined $500 and sentenced to a 30-day jail term.

Janie Tyree, 23, of 831 John St., was fined $500 and sentenced to 30 days in jail with all the time suspended for assault. Judge Robert L. Simpson also placed her on probation for one year.

A Sabina resident, Kimberly Babb, 19, was fined $100 with all the amount suspended and sentenced to 10 days in jail with all the time suspended for passing a $27.40 bad check at the Carter Lumber Co., 4994 CCC Highway-W, on March 10.

Kenny Osborne, 18, of 819 Lakeview Ave., was found not guilty of tampering with the property of another.

A disorderly conduct charge against Dean S. Byrd, 49, of 1013 John St., was dropped at the request of the prosecuting witness.

SCOL diamond race still tight

Trace cold in loss to Eagles

LONDON—The Miami Trace Panthers lost another South Central Ohio League baseball contest Monday evening dropping their record at 5-5, but coach Mike Henry thinks his Panthers still have a shot at the league title.

Miami Trace ran into some tough pitching from Madison Plains' Jim Eitel and dropped a 4-2 contest in the cold at the Golden Eagles' diamond.

The Panthers' fall to .500 with the loss, doesn't mean Henry's squad is out of the race. In fact none of the eight league teams can be counted out yet. Every team has at least three losses with several tough games left on the schedule.

Circleville holds the league lead with a 6-3 mark followed by Hillsboro (5-4) and Plains (6-1). Miami Trace is in third followed by Unioto, Washington C.H. and Wilmington with 4-5 records.

Henry predicted before the season started that the league champion would have at least three losses. Now, he admits he may have miscalculated.

Madison Plains jumped to a 1-0 lead in the third frame off Panther starter Allan Conner Monday. The Panthers came back with a pair of runs in the fourth to take a brief lead.

With one out Dennis Combs doubled and Mark Tubbs drove him in with a single. Tubbs then moved to third on a balk and a wild pitch and scored on Joe Black's RBI single.

The Eagles came back to take the lead for good in the bottom of the fourth inning with a two-run outburst. Pete Sullivan led off with a single. After designated hitter Chuck Bartee popped up to first, Willis drove Sullivan in with a double. Eitel then flew out to left field, but Doug Sifrit broke the tie with a single.

The Eagles got an insurance run in the fifth before Conner was replaced by Stu Foster on the mound. Foster shut down the Eagles in two innings of work allowing only one hit. However, Eitel was doing the same to the Panthers. He got credit for the win striking out nine batters and walking only two.

Dave Saunders and Sifrit led the Golden Eagles hitting attack with two safeties apiece. Combs had two hits for the Panthers.

The Panthers will meet Chillicothe Thursday in the a first-round sectional tournament game. They return to SCOL action Friday against Unioto.

Middle Schoolers place in GM meet

GREENFIELD — Two Washington Middle School tracksters placed in the 13-team Greenfield McClain Junior High School Invitational track meet Saturday.

Justin Rummer took sixth in the 1,320 yard (three laps) run and David Cooper took home a medal for a third-place finish in the pole vault.

Cooper cleared the bar at 9'0" and it was his first loss in the event. He had won the pole vault in the Middle School's previous three meets.

Hillsboro won the annual meet which features the top teams in central Ohio and Washington C.H. placed last.

The Blue Lions will travel to Chillicothe on Wednesday for a triangular meet. David Johnson is the team's coach this year, and there are no home meets scheduled due to the poor condition of the Gardner Park track.

No homers, 11 hits

Perez finds season 'frustrating time'

CINCINNATI (AP) — This is a frustrating time for the Cincinnati Reds' Tony Perez, who once hit 40 home runs in a season, but so far for this season, he has no home runs and only 11 hits.

Perez's record season came in 1970 when he opened the year with 10 home runs in April, a National League record which has since been bettered by Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh and Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia.

Perez has 258 lifetime home runs, not counting three in championship play, three in the World Series and one in AllStar competition.

His last homer was a memorable one, coming in the seventh game of the World Series with the Reds trailing 3-0. Bill Lee of the Boston Red Sox tried one of his "blooper" pitches and the Reds' first baseman put it over the ball in left field.

"I didn't think I'd ever go this long without a home run," admitted Perez.

He does not know what is causing the power shortage. "I can't get the ball up. I am just missing my pitches," he said.

He's had bad times before. "I don't worry about it. It isn't the first time," he said.

For example, last season he had one of those 0-for-6 days on Opening Day and when May rolled around, he was hitting only .172. Still he had four homers and 18 runs batted in.

By the end of the year, he had caught fire and was hitting .282 with 20 home runs.

This year so far, it's no homers and 11 runs batted in.

Perez' problems are nothing, though, compared to those of his roommate Dave Concepcion. Concepcion suffered through an 0-for-8 afternoon Sunday which is a slump in itself. That made the Perez-Concepcion combination 0-for-14 for the afternoon.

Concepcion's average dropped to .163 after Sunday's game. Perhaps Perez and Concepcion can be consoled by the example provided by Reds' catcher Johnny Bench. Once suffering at the plate along with Perez and Concepcion, Bench has 12 hits in 20 tries in his last five games, a .600 clip. His average, once as low as .080, has jumped to .281.

Sonnie gains linebacker slot with New York Jets

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Wally Sonnie thought his fears had been confirmed: no National Football League team wanted his playing services.

After all the NFL had plucked off 492 players from the college campuses in two days of drafting. The Ohio University defensive end was not among them.

A few hours after the draft concluded, however, scout Ralph Baker of the New York Jets telephoned Sonnie and asked him to sign a three-year free agent contract with the NFL team.

"It didn't shock me that I wasn't drafted, but I was depressed," said Sonnie.

"But then I figured Baker didn't call me just to tell me I hadn't been drafted in one of the late rounds. Then he asked me if I would be interested in signing with the Jets.

"I told him I'd have to check with my parents first."

Sonnie won the approval of his parents and met the New York scout at Columbus International Airport to sign his NFL pact.

Sonnie, although not revealing specific terms, described the contract "as very lucrative."

The Jets plan to use the 6-foot-2, 230-pound former Ohio co-captain at middle linebacker.

Board designates 'bicentennial day'

The Fayette County Agricultural Society (fair board) Monday night designated Monday, July 26 "bicentennial day" for the 1976 Fayette County Fair.

The highlight of the "bicentennial day" will be an old-fashioned high-wheel sulky race featuring local drivers at the Monday night harness races.

Eddie Kirk, president of the fair board, has asked that any groups wanting to participate in the "bicentennial day" activity to contact him.

The fair board is hopeful that other activities can be planned in conjunction with the "bicentennial day" activities.

In other business conducted during the regular monthly meeting, the board members heard progress reports on the installation of the new roof on the Mahan Building and the tractor pull track project. The tractor pull track is being constructed in the X infield of the race track.

Jury gets Moore case

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The federal extortion trial of Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. headed toward a seven-woman, five-man jury today.

Final fragments in the defense of codefendant William Loy, rebuttal witnesses and closing arguments remained today as the trial resumed after a three-day recess.

U.S. District Judge Joseph Young instructed the jurors last week to arrive with an overnight bag, prepared to stay until they reach a verdict.

Moore and Loy are charged with conspiring to extort $25,000 from Theodore R. Price, president of Diversified Mountaineer Corp., in 1972. Price wanted a state bank charter and Moore was running for re-election that year.

The prosecution called 13 witnesses, Moore's defense 21 and Loy's defense seven during the first nine days of the trial. Loy's attorney, Edward Eardley, said he had several other witnesses to call to complete his case.

Traffic Court

In addition to other punishment, a Kentucky man was given a ten day jail term for driving while intoxicated in Monday's Washington C.H. Municipal Court traffic session.

Judge Robert L. Simpson levied a fine of $250, a 10-day jail term, and the suspension of driving privileges for 90 days upon Lawrence E. Tucker, 39, of Cattlesburg, Ky. He had been found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

For using a fictitious name to obtain a driver's license, John A. Welch, 33, Nashville, Tenn., was fined $250 and sentenced to 90 days in jail with 90 days suspended. Welch had reportedly used the name "Kelly Moses Jr." to obtain a Tennessee driver's license, and the fact was discovered after he had been stopped for speeding. He was fined $20 for that violation.

Tommy T. Jackson, 27, of 723 Willard St., was fined $150 with $75 suspended sentenced to 30 days in jail with all the time suspended for driving while under license suspension. He was fined $50 on a speeding charge. Jackson was placed on probation for one year and ordered to attend traffic school.

A fine of $35 and a six day jail term were imposed upon James V. Noble, 30 of 515 Broadway St., for driving under revocation.

Pamela J. Lankford, 18, of Mount Sterling, was fined $20 for speeding. A bond forfeiture of $500 was accepted after Gerald L. Rowe, 26, of Dayton, failed to appear in court to answer charges of driving while intoxicated.

Spring was due to return to Ohio today.

Sunny skies were expected by afternoon, along with a return of south-westerly winds, causing temperatures to rise into the upper 50s over most of Ohio, possibly reaching the low 60s along the Ohio River.

Rapid warming will take place as a ridge of high pressure moves from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Coast and temperatures in Ohio Wednesday will be well up into the 70s.

The approach of a new storm front moving out of Canada may cause some late afternoon or evening thundershowers followed by cooler temperatures again on Thursday as the front moves into Ohio.

Prayer breakfast draws 48 persons

The teen power breakfast attendance climbed to 48 Tuesday morning. The prayer breakfast which are held at the South Side Church of Christ for teens began in the fall of 1969 with 19 present.

"Has Christianity lost its Effect?" was the topic chosen by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond for the meditation period. LuAnn Graham and Mick Hecker, both seniors at Washington Senior High School, led the singing accompanied by Mrs. Frank Creamer.

After breakfast, Carol Bryant, a junior at Washington Senior High School, spoke to the group on "The Parable of the Apple Tree." She emphasized the need of us taking our problems to God.

The last prayer breakfast of the school season will be held Tuesday, May 11 at 6:45 a.m. The eight graders will be the guests.

VFW post provides parade color guard

Seven members of Burnett-Ducey Post No. 4964, Veterans of Foreign Wars, provided a color guard for a parade at Sunday's observance of National Hospital Day at the Veterans Administration hospital in Chillicothe.

Color guard members were Russell Baker, Kenneth Harley, Ben Jamison, Ambers Conley, James Puckett, Chester Hamulak and Ron Hurlless.

The Rev. Cloyce D. Copley, a member of the post, was honored at the observance for his many hours of volunteer service.

Kiwanis salutes 'assistants'

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club met Monday night in the Terrace Lounge for the regular weekly dinner meeting.

Mike Campbell was in charge of the program which centered around the honoring of those people who had helped the Kiwanis Club with the recent teen talent show. A small token of appreciation was given to Mrs. Cinda Stinson, Mrs. Paula Campbell, and Gary Browning, for their efforts which helped to make this year's show a tremendous success.

Tim Walters, of the Gregg Street Church, was unable to attend the meeting but he was thanked for his help with the sound system which was borrowed from the church. Others who were responsible for organizing the show will be honored at a later date.

Tom LeVan, who was co-chairman with Campbell for this year's show, thanked the committee chairmen for their help and Campbell thanked all of the club members for their efforts.

New members who were welcomed into the club were Robert K. Moore, traffic clerk at the Armco Steel Corp.,

who was sponsored by George Gibbs, and the Rev. Richard Ward.

At the next Kiwanis meeting, Susan Link, the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Washington C.H. commercial manager will speak.

Opening lead - eight of clubs.

To be a good dummy player you must be a worrier. You can't afford to relax merely because the particular contract you're playing seems easy to make.

Take a case like this one, where you're in six hearts and West leads a club. If you win it in dummy with the king and return a trump, as most declarers would do, you go down one. West wins the trump with the ace, plays another club which East ruffs, and you wind up going minus 100 instead of plus 1,630.

But if you're the worrying kind you make the contract. As soon as dummy comes down, you start fussing about what can happen to stop you from making the slam. It wouldn't take you too long to conclude that the only real danger is the possibility of a club ruff.

West's club lead, in the face of North's club bid, looks mighty suspicious. It seems likely that he was either trying to get a club ruff for himself, or trying to give his partner one.

The right thing to do under these circumstances is to look for a countermeasure to stop this from happening. Fortunately, when you study the situation, you find that something can be done to nip West's plan in the bud.

Accordingly, at trick two, you play a low spade to the ace, then cash the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond in dummy. After discarding a club on the king of spades, you play a trump to force out the ace. Only then can you afford to relax.

The hand goes to show that a little worrying at the right time and the right place can do a lot of good.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is All Aspirin the Same?

My head hurts, mostly from all the commercials about special kinds of aspirin, all competing for my attention. Is one aspirin as good as another? If so, why is there such a difference in cost?

Mrs. G. S., Ohio
Dear Mrs. S.: Aspirin is universally accepted as a valuable and effective drug when used judiciously.

It still remains one of the most beneficial drugs for many cases of chronic rheumatoid arthritis and to reduce the aches and fever of ordinary respiratory infections.

All aspirin made by reliable manufacturers must be considered the same in its effectiveness. The wide disparity in the cost of aspirin must therefore be attributed only to packaging and advertising and not to the quality of the aspirin.

Have you ever heard of a "Saturday night" disease?

Miss D. D., Minn.
Dear Miss D.: A special type of paralysis of the arm has been referred to as "Saturday night paralysis."

The name originated because it is associated with "Saturday night" alcoholic bouts. During these bouts, the arms may be loosely thrown over the back of a chair, remaining in this position for a long time.

Paralysis is caused by a compression of nerves and blood vessels in the axilla, or armpit.

The paralysis is usually temporary. Its duration depends on the severity of the injury to the nerve.

More sober people who keep their arms in such a fixed position recognize the tingling sensation in the tips of their fingers and, of course, change their position and prevent damage to the nerve.

Is leprosy included in the list of venereal diseases?

Mr. J. T., Miss.
Dear Mr. T.: No, it is not. Leprosy is an infectious disease caused by a germ closely related to the one that causes tuberculosis.

Since it is an infectious disease, it can be transmitted from person to person. It is definitely not a venereal disease and must not carry with it any social stigma.

In areas where leprosy still exists, great strides have been made with drugs as a preventative.

Another group of drugs has been remarkably effective in treating and controlling some forms of leprosy.

In Focus

by
Charlie Pensyl

The photo exhibit at the Fayette County Fair this year should reflect the up-swing in interest in the photo darkroom. With the lousy stuff on the boob tube forcing more and more lensmen into the darkroom, together with the breakthroughs in color darkroom chemistry, this year has found many amateurs rediscovering the fun of making their own photographic prints. That goes for black-and-white and color.

If you were one of those who had fun making prints back a few years ago, you'll get a shock as you learn of the new processes and techniques. For one thing, RC papers have simplified and shortened the process since these new papers don't absorb the chemicals and therefore don't demand the washing time of the old papers. New chemicals tend to make the work easier and results surer. Then there's color printing. Yes, color printing is easier and simpler and less time-consuming than the black-and-white stuff. And lots more fun! CIBACHROME is the magic key to color print fun. You should tune in on this stuff.

Then there is the fun of processing your own color slides. We have many folks who enjoy push-processing their HIGH-SPEED EKTACHROME ASA to 640, or even 1000. And some are pushing GAF 500 to ASA 1000. The GAF slide processing kit is inexpensive and easy to use.

There is a booming business these days in the darkroom how-to-do-it books, such as BIGGER AND BETTER ENLARGING, by Nibbelink and Anderson, CREATIVE DARKROOM TECHNIQUES, and DO IT IN THE DARK. Come in and get the pitch on the return to the darkroom.

Furniture thefts probed

A roving wicker furniture thief may be responsible for two reported Temple Street larcenies on Monday. Washington C.H. police officers also investigated three alleged malicious destruction incidents.

A wicker chair valued at $75 belonging to Mrs. Howard Osborne, 511 E. Temple St., was reported stolen sometime Sunday or early Monday morning from the front porch.

Nearby, at Mrs. Kenneth Arnold's residence, 112 E. Temple St., two wicker chairs described as being in "excellent" condition were reported stolen from her front porch between 1 a.m. and 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Earl McDaniels, 607 Gibbs Ave., told police officers that two juveniles entered his 727 Peabody Street home, chopped holes in the walls, cut the electrical wiring, and caused an estimated $150 worth of damage. McDaniels said the incident occurred around 4:45 p.m. Monday.

A section of a stain glass window, on the west side of the Grace United Methodist Church, 301 E. Market St., valued at $150, was reportedly broken by subjects between 4 p.m. Friday and 4 p.m. Monday.

Robert Entekin, 449 Broadway St., told police officers that while he was away from his home, someone broke three boards from his back fence. The incident is believed to have occurred sometime between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. Monday.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported that Derek E. Wilson, 10, of 1322 Grace St., was bitten on the finger by a cat. The Friday incident resulted in the youth being later treated and released from Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

Ironton man injured as two rigs collide

A Monday afternoon collision between two tractor trailer rigs resulted in injury to an Ironton man, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported. A Blackstone Avenue accident was investigated by Washington C.H. police officers.

A tractor trailer rig headed south on the I-71 exit ramp to U.S. 35, and driven by Earl Ratliff, 39, of Vallonia, Ind., reportedly pulled across U.S. 35 into the path of another tractor rig, west-bound on the roadway. A collision ensued, and the driver of the second rig, John W. Nelson, 36, of Ironton, was injured. He was taken to Ironton General Hospital, and then treated and released. The 3:45 p.m. Monday accident caused severe damage to Ratliff's rig and slight damage to Nelson's tractor trailer. Ratliff was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

Kathy E. Metcalf, 23, of 1152 E. Paint St., told police officers that while she was backing from a private driveway on Blackstone Avenue, just north of E. Paint Street, she failed to see another car and struck it at 4:25 p.m. Monday. The other car was driven by Rose A. Morris, 34, of 1107 Rawlings St. Both cars were slightly damaged, and Ms. Metcalf was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Attorney fee case heard

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The question of whether the state should pay some $40,000 in legal fees to an attorney who represented inmates of Marion Correctional Institution was considered in federal court Monday.

Judge Don J. Young of U.S. District Court heard arguments whether to pay the money to Niki Schwartz, a Cleveland attorney who represented the inmates in a legal action that resulted in a report by a court investigator critical of the prison.

The investigator examined the prison to determine if a federal order from 1972 was being followed. He found that job assignment discrimination against black prisoners at the prison persisted.

The hearing was to determine whether prison staff complied with the federal order of 1972 and improved conditions since then. E.P. Perini, prison superintendent, and W.J. Whalen, an administrative assistant, testified.

Young gave Schwartz a week to file a brief supporting his position that he should be paid for representing the inmates. The prison attorneys will then receive a week to respond, followed by five days for Schwartz to answer. The judge will then decide whether the money should be paid.

Firemen check dryer blaze

Washington C.H. firemen were summoned Monday to check a dryer that had previously been on fire.

The fire had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived at approximately 8:40 a.m. Monday. The incident occurred at the John Dunn residence, 267 Carolyn Road.

Arrests

SHERIFF

MONDAY — Earl Ratliff, 39, of Vallonia, Ind., failure to yield at a stop sign.

POLICE

MONDAY — Kathy E. Metcalf, 23, of 1152 E. Paint St., failure to yield right of way; John R. Lutz, 28, of 671 Willabar Drive, no driver's license and failure to display license plates.
